General Introduction to Census volumes,	Page xi-xxvi
Special Introduction to Vol. I. Population and Social Statistics,	xxvii-lvii

TABULAR PRESENTATIONS.

I. POPULATION AND SEX,	3-8
Males, Females and Totals by Towns, Cities (wards), Counties, and for the State.
II. POLLS AND VOTERS,	11-16
Ratable polls, native voters, naturalized voters and total voters by Towns, Cities (wards), Counties, and for the State.
III. FAMILIES AND DWELLING-HOUSES,	19-24
Families, occupied, unoccupied and total dwelling-houses, by Towns, Cities (wards), Counties, and for the State.
IV. SIZE OF FAMILIES,	25-41
The number of families, of each size (1 to 16 persons), by Towns, Cities, Counties, and for the State.
V. COLOR AND RACE,	45-56
White, Black, Mulatto, Chinese, Japanese and Indian, with sex, by Towns, Cities (wards), Counties, and for the State.
VI. CONJUGAL CONDITION,	59-70
Single, Married, Widowed, Divorced and Unknown, with sex, by Towns, Cities (wards), Counties, and for the State.
VII. AGES,	71-270
Number at each age, by each month and year, with sex, by Towns, Cities (wards), Counties, and State recapitulations.
VIII. PLACE OF BIRTH,	273-284
Number born in town named, in other towns in the State, in other States, in foreign countries, and those with birth-place unknown, with sex, by Towns, Cities (wards) and Counties, with a State recapitulation.

IX. FOREIGN BORN, 285-339

Males, females and totals born in the following named foreign countries, by Towns, Cities (wards) and Counties, with State recapitulation:—

Africa,	330, 331
American citizens born abroad,	333
At sea,	337, 338
Austria,	331, 332
Belgium,	332
Brazil,	332, 333
China,	333
Countries not designated,	336, 337
Denmark,	323, 324
Dominion of Canada,	300-304
Egypt,	334
England,	287-290
France,	307-310
Friendly Islands,	334
Germany,	310-313
Greece,	334
Holland,	327, 328
Ireland,	291-294
Italy,	316, 317
Japan,	334
Liberia,	334
Mexico,	334, 335
Other British Possessions,	304-307
Persia,	335
Portugal and its Colonies,	314, 315
Russia, Poland and Finland,	325, 326
Sandwich Islands,	335
Scotland,	295-298
Siam,	335
Society Islands,	335
Spain and its Colonies,	321, 322
Sweden and Norway,	318-320
Switzerland,	328-330
Turkey,	335
Wales,	298-300

X. NATIVITIES WITH AGES: ALIENS, 341-378

Number born in town named, in other towns in the State, in other States, in foreign countries and in places unknown, with designation of sex, by periods of age (under 10, 10 to 14 inc., 15 to 20 inc., above 20), denoting number of aliens, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with State recapitulation.

XI. BIRTHS: NATIVITIES OF MOTHERS,	379-435
The number of births to each mother (1 to 25 each), distinguishing native and foreign born, with total mothers and total married women, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with State recapitulation.
XII. BLIND, DEAF, DUMB, ETC.,	437-445
Blind, Deaf, Dumb, Deaf and Dumb, Idiotic and Insane, with sex, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with State recapitulation.
XIII. PAUPERS AND CONVICTS,	447-452
Paupers and Convicts, with sex, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with State recapitulation and a classification by place of birth.
XIV. CLASSIFIED OCCUPATIONS,	453-477
Persons engaged in occupations classified as Government and Professional, Domestic and Personal Office, Trade and Transportation, Agriculture, Fisheries, etc., Manufactures and Mechanical Industries, Indefinite, Non-Productive and Property, together with those having no occupation, with sex, by Towns, Cities (wards) and Counties, with State recapitulations by sex and totals.
XV. SELECTED OCCUPATIONS,	479-571
Persons engaged in all occupations, and number engaged in the principal occupations, in each town and city, with sex.
XVI. OCCUPATIONS BY NAME,	573-613
Persons engaged in each occupation in the State, with sex, classified as in SELECTED OCCUPATIONS, with a recapitulation by periods of age (under 10, 10 to 15, and above 15). Occupations are classified and subdivided under classification as follows; under the subdivisions of classes, the particular name of every related occupation is given:—
Government and Professional,	575, 576
National Government,	575
State Government,	575
City and Town Government,	575
Army,	575
Navy,	575
Clergymen and Church Officers,	575
Lawyers and Law Court Officers,	576

XVII. SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL PROPERTY, 615-623

Number of public schools and incorporated and unincorporated private schools, with number and value of buildings and value of property therein, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with a State recapitulation.

	Page
XVIII. SCHOOL ATTENDANCE,	625-633
Number of children attending school, by periods of age (under 5, 5 to 10, 10 to 15, above 15, and all ages), with sex, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with a State recapitulation and classification by kind of school attended.
XIX. CHILDREN AT WORK AND AT SCHOOL,	635-642
Number of children at work, number of those at work also attending school, by periods of age (under 10 and 10 to 15), with sex, by Towns, Cities and Counties, with a State recapitulation.
XX. ILLITERACY,	643-667
Native and foreign born illiterates, by periods of age (10 to 15, 16 to 19, 20 to 21, and above 21 years), classified by degree of illiteracy, with sex, by towns, cities and counties, with State recapitulations and classification by place of birth.
XXI. LIBRARIES BY TOWNS,	669-677
Number of libraries in each town, city and county, classified as secular (State, City and Town public, public and private school, college, scientific and artistic, hospital, association and private circulating), and religious (church, Sunday school and association), with a State recapitulation.
XXII. LIBRARIES: VOLUMES, CIRCULATION, ETC.,	679-701
Number of libraries, by towns and cities, with number of volumes, circulation, endowment and income therefrom, number of reading-rooms, and value of library buildings, with County and State recapitulations and State classification by kind of library.
XXIII. LIBRARIES: BY NAME,	703-724
Name of each Library in each Town, City and County.
XXIV. POPULATION FOR 1865 AND 1875,	725-731
Population of each Town, City and County for 1865 and 1875, with actual increase or decrease given, and recapitulations denoting the per cent of increase or decrease for Counties and the State.
XXV. CENSUSES OF POPULATION (1776-1875),	733-751
Population of each Town, City and County at each census (Colonial, United States or State) during one hundred years (1776-1875), with a State recapitulation.

	Page
XXVI. NOTES,	753-774
Information concerning incorporation of Counties, Cities and Towns; unusual changes in population, with causes for same, etc.; changes in town names, boundaries, etc.
XXVII. APPENDIX,	775-789
Table I. State aggregates of Polls, Valuation, Taxes, Houses, Horses, Cows, Sheep and Taxable Land, during Fifteen Years (1861-1875), from returns of assessors.
Table II. Valuation (from assessors' returns) and Products (from census returns) for the year ending May 1, 1875, by towns, cities and counties, with a State recapitulation.
XXVIII. TABULAR INDEX: BY TOWNS,	791-809
An arrangement of towns, cities and counties in combination with the sub-titles of presentations in this volume, form- ing a reciprocal index for towns and subjects.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

OFFICE OF BUREAU OF STATISTICS OF LABOR,
No. 33 PEMBERTON SQUARE, BOSTON, October, 1876. }

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives.

The results of the Census of Massachusetts for 1875 are comprised in four volumes: hence the necessity of a general introduction applicable to all; especially is it necessary and appropriate, for the reason that the census has been taken under a system never before attempted upon any considerable scale in this, and only partially in any country.

The last of the four volumes was published in May as the seventh annual report of the Bureau, and consisted of the tabulations derived from what was known as the Individual Schedule, relating entirely to the condition of those engaged in wage labor and in salaried positions. Averages only resulted from the returns used as the groundwork for the report.

The first volume, and which is designated Volume I. in the census series, is entitled "Population and Social Statistics." Volume II. is entitled "Manufactures and Occupations," and Volume III. is entitled "Agricultural Products and Property."

Fisheries returns are contained in Volume II., and Mining in Volume III. Each volume has a special introduction relating to the particular subjects considered in each.

Besides the volumes mentioned above, a compendium, containing aggregates of all results in Volumes I., II. and III., has been published to meet the wants of those who do not care for the details by towns; and a volume entitled "The Census System of Massachusetts for 1875," prepared more especially for the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, containing all schedules, blanks, instructions, circulars, forms and methods of tabulation, etc., employed in prosecuting the work of the Decennial Census of the State. It was thought best to preserve all these matters in permanent form, and to that end the principal portion of the "Census System" volume was printed at the time of use, or from stereotype plates in the possession of the State. This volume is not, of course, for general distribution; but any one engaged in census work can be supplied on application.

The present system is such a radical departure from that of the past, that a brief account of it is not deemed out of place; in fact, is due the Legislature and the people. The results of the new plans have fully justified their adoption.

Censuses of the people, relating to but few particulars, have been taken at various times. There were Colonial censuses in 1754, 1765 and 1776, and State censuses were ordered in 1837, 1840 and 1850. The census has, also, been taken in Massachusetts under the national government, each tenth year, since 1790. The regular decennial enumeration of the inhabitants, under State authorization, was begun in 1855, in connection with the collection of the industrial statistics, which were also gathered in 1837, 1845, 1855 and 1865, this being the fifth census of the industrial statistics of the State, and the third constitutional decennial enumeration of the people. A brief sketch of the recent censuses taken under the authority of the State will show the necessity of a change in methods, and secure a better comprehension of the reasons which governed the officers of the Bureau in their endeavors to give the Commonwealth the best possible results for the great outlay essential to a proper prosecution of their duties.

The Legislature of 1837 passed a law [chapter 199] entitled "An Act to obtain statistical information in relation to certain branches of industry," the first section of which states, that "the assessors of each town in the Commonwealth shall, between the first day of May and the first day of October next, make a return to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, of the following facts, as they exist in each town on the first day of April preceding." The remainder of the section specifies the facts desired. They are, substantially, the quantity and value of stock used, of goods manufactured, of capital invested, and hands employed, for about forty industries which are enumerated by name, and which were at that time, doubtless, the principal industries carried on in the State. A saving clause provides for obtaining the same facts respecting any "other industries." By this Act, the products of the soil were not asked for. The only productive property inquired about, were Saxony, merino and other sheep; and the questions were in respect to the number of each breed, and to the quantity of each kind of wool produced, "the average weight of fleece per head," the value of the product, and the capital invested. Inquiries were provided respecting the fisheries of the State, such as the number of vessels engaged in fishing, their tonnage, the kind, quantity and value of the fish caught, and of salt consumed. Section 4 declares that "each assessor shall receive from the treasury of the Commonwealth, one dollar and twenty-five cents a day for every day that he shall be employed in making the return aforesaid"; section 6, that "if the assessors of any town shall wilfully neglect to make the return aforesaid, in the manner aforesaid, such assessors shall forfeit to the Commonwealth a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars." No part of the Act authorizes the use of a legal process to enforce the obligations laid upon assessors, it either being considered that compulsion was unnecessary in a work of such general usefulness to all, or that, as the native New Englander has always been impatient of much interference with what he is pleased to term "private rights," it was thought expedient to trust to the good sense and discretion of the assessors to elicit, in the most practicable way, the information desired. It is probable that the latter was the chief reason for leaving the Act in this comparatively inoperative state.

March 21, 1845, an Act [chapter 171] was passed, having the same title as the preceding, and similar in form, authorizing the collection of industrial statistics in that year, the facts to be presented "as they exist in each city or town, on the first day of April next." This Act differed in no way from that of 1837,—the language employed, even, being identical with it,—except that additions were made to the heads of industries enumerated, making the number mentioned about ninety, inclusive of some having reference to products and productive property. The principal items in the latter class, are certain domestic animals, such as horses, asses; mules, neat cattle and swine, of which the number and value were asked. In regard to agricultural products, the quantity raised and the value of the following were called for: Indian corn, wheat, rye, barley, oats, millet, "potatoes and other esculent vegetables," hay, hemp, flax, hops, tobacco, raw silk, teasels, "fruit of various kinds," butter, cheese, honey and beeswax.

May 21, 1855, an Act was passed, having the same title as the two preceding, making provision for again gathering statistics of "industry" in the Commonwealth, a decade having elapsed since the previous census was taken, and it being the intermediary year between the decennial censuses taken by the national government. This Act required "the facts as they exist on the first day of June next," instead of April, as had been required by the former Acts, and it was provided that assessors should be paid two dollars per day, instead of one dollar and a quarter. Otherwise there was hardly a change in the whole text of the Act.

April 24, 1865, there was passed "an Act to obtain the industrial statistics of the Commonwealth" [chapter 146], the first section of which provided that "the aldermen of each city, and the selectmen of each town in the Commonwealth, shall, between the first day of May and the first day of September, in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-five, and also, between the first day of May and the first day of September in every tenth year thereafter, make to the Secretary of the Commonwealth the returns hereinafter specified," such returns being required to relate to the facts as they exist on said first day of May, or to the facts for the year ending on that day. By this Act, it is seen that the collection of the statistics was transferred from assessors to the aldermen of cities and the selectmen of towns. This change was made, doubtless, to secure greater fulness and accuracy in the returns. The Secretary of the Commonwealth, in his letter submitting to the Senate a statement of the statistics of 1855, says: "It is next to impossible for the tax-payer, when called upon by the assessors to answer such questions as were propounded under the law, to divest his mind of the impression of an intimate connection between his answers and the assessment of his taxes; hence the general tendency to understate results, and an absolute refusal, in numerous instances, to answer at all." The Act of 1865 makes a third change in the date to which the statistics should relate, fixing it as the first day of May. Section 5 provides that "if any person shall refuse to give the information required in said first section, he shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars." The general inquiries provided by this Act were substantially the same as for the Acts of 1837, 1845 and 1855; but the specific heads of "industries," as by a legislative misnomer the statistics of the Commonwealth have continued to be called, respecting which the information was desired, were increased to two hundred and seventeen, nearly one-third of which had reference to the land and its products, domestic animals and fisheries.

Section 2 of the Act passed May 21, 1855, entitled "An Act to secure a Decennial Census," specifies that "this enumeration shall distinguish the males and the females, and the color of each; the natives and the foreigners, and of the latter, the country in which they were born; and it shall determine the ages of the population within decennial periods." The occupations of the people, the number of dwellings, the number of families, and the number of deaf, dumb, blind, insane and idiotic persons, and of convicts, were also determined.

The decennial census of 1865 was taken under authority of chapter 69 of that year. This Act is still operative, and formed the authority under which the present work has been done, so far as it relates to the enumeration of the people.

The industrial statistics of 1875 were collected in accordance with chapter 146 of 1865, as amended by chapter 386 of 1874. There was no schedule of heads of industries incorporated in this latter Act; but section three provides that the Bureau of Statistics of Labor shall revise the schedule of 1865, and also make such alterations and additions as the Secretary of the Board of Education, the Secretary of the Board of Agriculture, and the Insurance Commissioner should suggest, and that such revised schedule should be laid before the Governor and Council, on or before the first day of December following, and when approved by them, should be substituted for the schedule of 1865. In compliance with this law, the officers of the Bureau, to whom was committed the duty of securing the enforcement of its provisions, prepared the "Industrial Statistics Schedule for 1875." December 12, 1874, it was submitted to the governor and council, was by them referred to a special committee, which, ten days later, reported, recommending its approval. It was immediately approved, and, with the unrepealed portions of chapters 69 and 146 of 1865, formed the complete authority under which the census of the people and statistics of industries, products, etc., of 1875, were taken. This "Industrial Statistics Schedule" is contained in full in the "Census System" volume referred to.

In previous decades, there had been considerable dissatisfaction among statisticians, on account of the inexactness and incompleteness of the information obtained. But how to provide for securing information fuller and more exact, is easier to be seen now, than foreseen then. In future years, it will doubtless be an easy matter to perform a work of this kind, so that far more satisfactory results even than the present shall be obtained. The causes of miscarriage, hitherto, seem to have lain mainly in five points: firstly, that the work was done by assessors; secondly, that they were not properly instructed how to do it; thirdly, that the people themselves were wholly uninstructed; fourthly, that hundreds of industries and products were not inquired about specifically, but only as "other industries"; fifthly, that the people were not compelled to reply. In regard to the first, it is plain that, from the very nature of their duties, there could be no more ill-chosen men for such a work, than those whose business it is, under other laws, to appraise property and assess taxes. In regard to the second, the instructions and blanks which they received for carrying out the work were the meagre and ill-digested products of hasty legislation, the best that could be prepared, no doubt, under the circumstances, but none the less imperfect and poorly calculated to secure valuable results; for instance, the schedule for 1845 contained inquiries respecting cards, without mentioning whether playing, visiting, wool or animal cards were meant. In regard to the third, the people were, to a great extent, ignorant of the scientific, political and economic objects of such a work, and consequently suspicious of the uses to which the information would be put. In regard to the fourth, hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of manufactures were returned in 1845 and 1855 simply as "other industries," and in 1865, about thirteen millions of dollars' worth were so returned. In regard to the fifth, it could scarcely be expected that there would be universal compliance with a law which provided no punitive means to secure it, and which was, therefore, in the nature of a recommendation, rather than a demand. There were various other causes which more or less affected the value of the results. Some assessors made no return of industries not inquired for by name. On many of the blanks, notably in 1845, but a single question would be answered, and in the work of tabulation, estimates inserted.

In view of all these facts, it was deemed essential that the schedule for 1875 should be prepared with the utmost care. The principal features of divergence from former schedules are as follows: its classification of subjects into manufactures, occupations, products and property; the uniformity of all queries in each division; the minute specification, under each general head, of the subjects inquired about. The exchange of commodities by trade, and the valuation of property, were beyond the pale of the law. The object desired was the production of the State and the condition of its people, and investigation showed that the former was all included under the four divisions mentioned. The first division contains fifty general heads, and one thousand and seventy-six special; the second contains three general, and eighty-six special; the third, two general, and one hundred and twenty-five special; the fourth, three general, and fifty special. The entire number of special heads, that is, reference to things by name, is one thousand three hundred and thirty-seven. Experience has shown that too much care cannot be exercised in the form of a question which it is desirable should be understood alike by thousands of persons. What was intended to be the same question in the schedules of some former censuses, is asked in as many as fifteen different ways. While such literary carelessness can not be admired, it would yet be hypercritical to notice it, were it not that the various writings received various interpretations, and produced results sometimes different from what was intended. In the second, third and fourth divisions, the same regard was paid to exactness and agreement in the queries. In the whole list of questions, the same care was exercised that each should express exactly what was meant. In spite of all the thought given to these apparently trifling matters, it happened that misapprehension arose in regard to the intent of some of them.

The inquiries so far considered, relate to the first object to be attained by the work,—the production of the State. The second object—the condition of its people—is provided for by thirty-four supplemental questions, relating to persons employed in the manufactures enumerated, by forty-two relating to persons employed in the occupations enumerated, and by certain special inquiries. These latter embrace twenty-six inquiries, relating mainly to employers and their establishments, twenty-four relating to individuals, eighteen submitted by the Secretary of the Board of Education, and three submitted by the Insurance Commissioner. The whole number of inquiries amount to two hundred and eighty-five. There were fourteen inquiries (by subdivisions, making nineteen) relating to the enumeration of the people, which formed a portion of the law of 1865, and are still operative. The whole number of different questions asked, then, by this census, is three hundred and four.

Of course these did not all apply to any one individual, but that number of different inquiries was requisite to meet all cases in all industries and in all conditions. The whole number of topics inquired about, as has been stated, was one thousand three hundred and thirty-seven.

In regard to the third principal feature of divergence from the schedules of former years,—the minute specification, under each general head, of the subjects inquired about,—a few words will be of value, in order to show how this object was attained. An examination of the previous reports of decennial statistics will show plainly, that if the system inaugurated in 1837 of enumerating subjects about which inquiry should be made was to be continued, as it has been in all censuses since, including the present, too much particularity could not be employed. There is no doubt but manufactures and products, amounting to large sums, have not been returned in former years, and, in many cases, this was owing to there being no inquiry for the thing by name. In the preparation of the schedule for this census, fulness of detail was attained by the following means: A printed list of the articles manufactured and the products raised, mentioned in the schedule of 1865, was prepared and sent to the assessors of every town and city, with a request to add the names of all manufactures or products belonging to their respective towns or cities not appearing thereon. Large additions were obtained in this way. Recourse was then had to the census statistics of other States and countries, to gazetteers, directories, the trade lists of mercantile houses, the advertising columns of newspapers, to the publications of florists and nurserymen, agricultural and other works devoted to special lines of inquiry, and to many more sources which it is not necessary to particularize, from each of which the names of new industries or products, known to pertain to some part of the State, were acquired.

The Industrial Statistics Schedule, upon its approval by the governor and council, became not only part of the laws of 1865 and 1874,—chapters 146 and 386 respectively,—but the basis of work. Every inquiry in it is to be found on some one of the six schedules or blanks afterwards issued, and no others appear on them, with perhaps one or two exceptions.

In April, 1875, the active work of the Census began. Six blanks, or, as they have been invariably termed by all engaged in the work, schedules, were prepared for distribution. These blanks, or "prior schedules," were denominated the Family, Individual, Manufactures, Occupation, Products and Property, and Special Schedules, and their names sufficiently indicate their use. The Family Schedule was accompanied by a sheet of instructions to the head of family.

Enumerators were appointed under authority of chapter 37, Resolves of 1875, the persons appointed first having been approved by the mayor and aldermen of cities or the selectmen of towns. The enumerators were assigned their districts, supplied with blanks, instructions, record-books, etc., and began their field work early in May, 1875. The work was prosecuted with diligence, and the results of the enumeration of the people, polls, voters and dwelling-houses reported to the Secretary of State, September first, as the law demands.

On the completion of their labors, enumerators responded to a set of inquiries as to their work, and forwarded same to this office. By these replies, it appeared that thirty-six and three-fourths per cent of heads of families filled out the Family Schedule without assistance from the enumerators. The testimony respecting the accuracy of the enumeration was universal in its favor. There was occasional reference to some migratory family, whose wanderings had defeated the endeavors of the census taker; but these cases were apparently very few. The enumerator gave the causes for any unusual growth or decrease of population. He was obliged to serve penalty notices in all cases of absolute refusal to fill blanks or give information which would enable the enumerator to do so.

The returns of industries were not generally made till September and October, while a few were not received till later. Full returns were received from every town in the Commonwealth.

Tabulation commenced as soon as returns began to be received in any quantity, on July 6, 1875, and has been constantly pushed to the close.

As the blanks upon which returns were made were new in their construction, tabulation, of course, involved new methods, and a system was evolved, not describable without forms, by which work was rapidly done, a single clerk actually checking thirty thousand names in six hours. This system is fully described in the "Census System" volume already referred to.

The aim has been, in all the volumes, to make every presentation simple and capable of being comprehended at once, and we feel confident that the various plans of tables will meet the approval of all having occasion to study them. All points have been thoroughly proven, and if errors are discovered, they are entirely accidental. The system of proof has been exceedingly searching, and the result is gratifying. When the total population was obtained and proven, the number 1,651,912 was taken as the basis, and all other points tabulated with that. To illustrate: the tabulation of occupations should mathematically account for every man, woman and child in the State; practically, had it come within five thousand, it would have been considered accurate for census purposes; in reality, we had over twenty different clerks engaged upon the same tabulation, and the footings of the several parts of the whole showed a number in all occupations, considering conditions, as paupers, convicts, students, etc., for the time as people engaged in occupations, only forty-three out of the way. The same accuracy has been secured by the system of answers and tabulations of same in all matters. Failures in the collection of information will be carefully pointed out in each volume, and causes fully given.

The greatest difficulty experienced in making the various presentations has been to close them: so many and such varied manipulations of the returns come to mind, by which valuable and exceedingly interesting showings might be made, that the question has not been, "What can we do?" but "What can we leave undone?" As it is, we have carried tabulation to as full an extent as we felt warranted in doing, and have left many points, of value to the social scientist, for the eighth annual report of the Bureau, where they would be more appropriate.

The feature that distinguishes the present decennial census of the population, of industries, etc., of Massachusetts, from all preceding, is, that written replies to printed questions on properly prepared blanks have been required from the people; whereas, hitherto, questions have been proposed and answered verbally. The advantages of this method are important, and the disadvantages no greater than under the other. The advantages are, superior accuracy, a saving of time, and a reflex action upon the people themselves, who are, by it, informed in much larger measure in regard to the uses, scientific, economical and political, to which statistical facts can be applied. It certainly is not the least of its advantages, that it is highly educational.

By this plan, also, every intelligent person who desires to further the interests of the State, has ample time to prepare answers to all the inquiries made of him. Exact statements will thus be secured generally, in place of the mere guesses of the old method: for the business man, overtaken in the midst of business by the old-time census gatherer, will get rid of him as quickly as possible; but if he can have a few days' time, he will fill out, or cause to be filled out, correctly, the answers to a printed list of queries. A saving of time, therefore, in the enumeration, is sure to result.

By this system, the central office is put in possession of the name and residence of every one who fills, personally or by proxy, a blank of any kind, accompanied by the name of the enumerator receiving and accepting it. Thus, in every case of failure to answer any particular question, whether from carelessness on the part of either the enumerator or citizen, or from any other cause, the record furnishes the facts necessary to allow its reiteration. In the case of all misstatements, accidental or otherwise, which are sure to occur, and which the office examination is as sure to disclose, facility is thus afforded for correction. The questions found upon any one of the blanks used in the present work are so linked together, and have usually such a dependence upon each other, that an error in a single reply is discovered immediately upon examination, by the incongruity, thus introduced, with other replies. Thousands of such errors, especially in regard to manufactures, during the progress of the present work, have been corrected through the medium of the mail.

It has been seen that thirty-six and three-fourths per cent of the people filled out, without assistance from the census taker, the family blank containing the usual census questions. A large proportion of the remaining sixty-three and one-fourth per cent, who did not themselves fill out the blanks, had undoubtedly considered the questions, and debated in family conclave the answers proper to be given. The age, the occupation, the birth-place, and all the particulars inquired about, were talked over naturally, and when the enumerator called for the schedule, he was enabled to get truthful replies, and get them quickly, so that no more time was consumed in the two visits, in the aggregate, even in the case of the sixty-three and one-fourth per cent of the Family Schedules that he was obliged to fill himself, than would have been necessary had he made all the explanations demanded, and assisted in the family consultation likely to have been held to secure the answers at the first visit, while much greater accuracy was arrived at. The superior value of this plan as compared with the methods formerly in use, was, perhaps, still more apparent in collecting the manufacturing and agricultural statistics. Vast numbers of schedules were received from manufacturers and farmers which showed, plainly, that great care had been taken, and the ledger and the farm book consulted, that the answers might be exact, as was demanded.

To make these statements a little clearer, we will explain the modus operandi of the office. The first work performed upon the reception of the schedules was their examination. This work was done by clerks selected for their special knowledge of the subjects likely to be brought under their observation, and was for the purpose of noting, first, all omissions of replies to any inquiries; second, all inconsistencies in replies that were given. Every omission was of course apparent. These could sometimes be supplied, at once, by the examiner, although the highest degree of caution needed to be exercised in this matter. For instance, if we have a Family Schedule before us, on which George Jones is set down as a carpenter, and a legal voter, there is no doubt but Jones is a male, although the sex space is unfilled. So in regard to the Manufactures, the Occupation, the Products and Property, and all the schedules used, in short, there were omissions that could be supplied without a possibility of error. In the case of omissions that could not thus be supplied, the schedule afforded the name and address of the person from whom it was received, and of the enumerator transmitting it to the office, and a postal card or a letter has rarely failed to secure the desired information. Now, in regard to those who failed to answer any inquiries, in other words, who refused utterly to fill out a schedule: the names and post-office addresses of all such persons, engaged in manufacturing or farming, came into the office in response to a question on the circular sent to enumerators, as well as on the penalty notices transmitted by enumerators, and, as stated before, by means of correspondence, properly filled schedules have been secured from nearly all. Persons refusing to fill the Family, Individual or Special Schedules, were reported to the office on the penalty notice, and the matter was immediately attended to. Thus it can be seen that the department can guarantee to the people, that it has a return of all the industries of the Commonwealth.

In regard to the truthfulness of these returns, it may be stated that the questions are so many in number, so various in the matters inquired about, and hinge upon each other in such unseen ways, that a careless slip of the pen, or a purposely untruthful statement is recognized at once.

If the people of any community imagine their manufactures or agriculture make too small a showing, and do not realize their ambition, it must be borne in mind that the fault lies at the doors of their own citizens, manufacturers or farmers, and with no one else. It is extremely gratifying to record the fact, that the returns are exceedingly full and accurate, as a rule. Of course, some have preferred to injure their own neighborhood, rather than tell the truth; but these instances are rare, and each community where it has occurred can readily perceive the result.

The enumerators, as a class, have been faithful, patient and industrious. If poor appointments have occurred, it is because poor recommendations have been made by city and town authorities; but the poor enumerators have been so few, that we must commend the whole body, to whose earnest endeavors the success of the field work is due. A small corps of supervisors of enumerators rendered most excellent service. Six were employed, and had the number been doubled, the result would have warranted the expenditure.

In closing this brief outline of the Massachusetts census system of 1875, a few facts may be summarized, that will prove of use in the future. The whole number of enumerators employed was 529. The aggregate of days worked by them was 26,979. The average number of days worked by each was 51. The whole number of schedules, of all kinds, returned into the office by them was 506,702. The average number of schedules collected by each was $957\frac{8.5}{100}$. The average number, per day, collected by each was $18\frac{7.8}{100}$. The number of schedules of each kind returned to the office, and accepted as properly filled, was as follows: the Family, 359,000; the Individual, 80,893; the Manufactures, 10,730; the Occupation, 11,641; the Products and Property, 42,207; the Special, 2,231. The number of penalty notices served on persons refusing to fill schedules was about one hundred. There were no prosecutions under section 6 of the Act, as correspondence between the officers of the Bureau and the persons refusing to answer obviated all necessity for it. There are less than twenty manufacturers who have failed to comply with the law, while the number of farmers declining to make returns is so insignificant, as to make no perceptible difference in the aggregate.

The expense of the enumeration was as follows: Paid to enumerators, $81,497.70; to supervisors, $2,808.76; for printing blanks, schedules, etc., $11,053.62; total, $95,360.08. The persons referred to as supervisors were employed to travel among enumerators, instruct them personally, and overlook their work. They were six in number. This, it must be understood, was the expense incurred in gathering the statistics. The expense of examining and tabulating, was about $40,000 paid for clerical services, and $2,897.58 for rent, stationery, messenger, etc., and $900 for expressage and postage, making $43,799.68 as the cost of preparing the returns for the printer. The total expense is thus seen to be about $139,159, and there was an aggregate of about thirteen millions of answers.

The work of tabulating the returns consumed nearly thirteen months. The clerical force employed was of men and women, and was equivalent to 350 of the former and 400 of the latter working together for one month, or about the same as the combined labor of 27 men and 31 women for thirteen months. The largest number employed at one time was 68.

It will be seen that a distinct feature of the system adopted has been the complete separation of the work of collecting facts from that of combining and arranging them. Each schedule contains upon it the isolated facts respecting one family, establishment or farm. The duty of the enumerator began and ended in securing this result. The work of tabulating and aggregating was performed entirely in the central office, under the direct and constant supervision of the officers of the Bureau and their assistants. By this division of labor, the highest degree of efficiency and accuracy was secured. Under the plan followed in many States and countries, much of the labor of aggregating is performed by those employed as census takers, each of whom makes return only of the total for his district, respecting each inquiry. This has been the case, hitherto, in this State. By this latter plan, the clerical force employed would not be required for as long a time, nor need it be as large; however, the time consumed by enumerators would be extended, and the likelihood of as valuable results being secured would be much diminished.

The system is founded on the plan followed in England, of collecting returns of population by means of what is known as the "prior family schedule." It has been extended, in the present work in this State, to the gathering of statistics of all kinds. Experience indicates that a greater elaboration of it—perhaps to the extent of providing a distinct prior schedule for every great industry—would be advantageous.

To those who are unfamiliar with the official machinery of the State of Massachusetts, a few words of explanation may be necessary; otherwise it may appear that the collection of facts in some of the most important departments of science, educational, social or political, is unprovided for. There are various points upon which the State does not, through its census, seek information, for the reason that her general system of statistics supplies much matter that other States obtain only through the census takers. Under the direction of the Secretary of State, there is published annually, a Registration Report, giving the most vital points respecting births, deaths and marriages, and a Report of the aggregates of polls, property and taxes. Under the direction of the State Treasurer, there is issued every year by the Tax Commissioner, a Report embodying all important facts respecting corporations. Yearly Reports upon the matters under their charge, are made by the Railroad Commissioners, Insurance Commissioner, the Board of Education, Board of Health, Board of Agriculture, Board of State Charities, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and various other departments. Through these avenues, there is annually presented a mass of information, the importance of which cannot be estimated by ordinary standards; and the Reports of these various departments, with the Decennial Census and Industrial Statistics, really make up the Statistics of Massachusetts, and they illustrate a system which is not surpassed in thoroughness and minuteness. Its practical working, however, might be greatly simplified by a consolidation of forces, and thus avoid the duplication of work which now exists in some cases, and also insure uniformity and intimacy of connection in all.

Many obstacles stood in the way of the prosecution of the present work. It was difficult, in the first place, to disabuse people's minds of the idea of taxation in some way supposed to be associated with the Census. Again, while the Boston press gave the office great encouragement, we cannot say the same of the papers generally throughout the State.

In justice to many leading papers, however, we are glad to say that as soon as the principles of the enumeration were understood, they gave us great aid by urging the people to comply with the requirements of the law. The fact that it was the first time census questions were ever brought to the direct attention of heads of families, inquiries having heretofore been answered verbally by a servant or some member of the family in the absence of the head, was sufficient to cause great opposition. This will not occur again, because the people will fully understand that information is not wanted for the sake of knowledge of individual affairs.

One great obstacle to securing correct or the best information relative to agriculture, is the time of year provided by law for gathering the statistics. Facts are now called for as they existed May 1; if the time could be changed to October 15, or after the crops are secured, the advantages would be very great. This matter should receive the attention of the Legislature prior to the next decennial census.

The work of the clerical force has cost at least $5,000 more than it should, on account of the wretched office accommodations. With a force of seventy, working in four or five different places, at considerable distance apart, thorough supervision was almost impossible, while the crowded rooms and the generally unhealthy condition of the same, from bad ventilation and other causes, tended, in a great degree, to retard work.

We cannot close this general introduction without acknowledging the valuable aid rendered by Dr. Edward Jarvis, of Boston, and the encouragement we have received, in the establishment and carrying out of the new methods which have been employed, from General F. A. Walker, of New Haven.

We desire, also, to recognize the hearty coöperation of Major George H. Long, till last March the efficient Deputy Chief of the Bureau, now Deputy Commissioner of Insurance for Massachusetts; to him, and to the clerical force generally, we gave cordial acknowledgment of our obligations in the Seventh Report of the Bureau. Mr. Charles F. Pidgin, chief clerk, has been of invaluable service in all matters of forms, tabulations and presentations, while Mr. Oren W. Weaver has contributed largely to the success of the Census by his labor in proof reading and verifying results, and the literary assistance he has rendered from the first.

In the make-up of the volumes, the experience of the State Printers has been of inestimable value, and they have given far more thought and care to the satisfactory presentation of the various matters, than could legitimately be expected of them.

We can not speak in too high terms of the enumerators, already mentioned; nor can we let this introduction close without thanking the manufacturers and farmers of the State, who have so generally aided in making the Census of Industries more complete than our own expectations demanded.

Respectfully submitted,

CARROLL D. WRIGHT, Chief.

VOLUME I.

POPULATION AND SOCIAL STATISTICS.

INTRODUCTION.

The presentations in this volume are the tabulated answers to the census inquiries, relating to population and to the various conditions of the people, to libraries, public schools and incorporated and unincorporated private schools, as they severally existed May 1, 1875. Special tables, giving the population of the State by towns for one hundred years, the loss and gain since 1865, the aggregates of polls, valuation, houses and animals for each year since 1861, and the aggregate valuation and products of every town for 1875, are also incorporated in this volume. A chapter of notes "on incorporation of counties, cities and towns; unusual changes in population, with causes for same; changes in town names, boundaries," etc., has been supplied.

Table I. of the Appendix, Aggregates of Polls, etc., since 1861, was prepared and kindly furnished the Bureau by Hon. Charles Hale, of Boston, and with Table II., Appendix, Aggregates of Valuation and Products, will be found of great value to legislators and others.

Every presentation has been made with a view to simplicity, comprehensiveness and compactness; yet one looking for results will be greatly aided by a brief examination, in this part, of the tables and the points which require explanation.

Every table or presentation has its distinct title. This was considered much better than to use numbers, because a reference to a specific title by name gives an idea of what is shown under it, while if numbers are used the title must be stated also.

It is shown from POPULATION AND SEX (page 3) that the total population of Massachusetts is 1,651,912, a gain in ten years of 384,881, or 30.38 per cent, against 11.89 per cent gain from 1855 to 1865. This presentation gives the population in every ward, city, town and county in the State; it shows that there are 794,383 males, and 857,529 females, or 63,146 more females than males; in 1865, the time of the last State census, there were 63,011 more females than males; the disproportion, it will be seen, remains nearly the same as in 1865; while in 1855, the excess of females was only 32,301. In other words, the number of females to every 100 males, was, in 1855, 105.87; 1865, 110.46, and in 1875, 107.95. Since the first census in Massachusetts, there has been an excess of females, the percentage of females to the whole population, varying from 50.52, the lowest, in 1840, to 52.48, the highest, in 1865; the latter percentage, in 1865, being due in a great degree to the effects of the war.

The composition of the 63,146 excess of females is a question often discussed, and it is answered further on under CONJUGAL CONDITION.

The centre of population of the State is within one mile of the State House, while the geographical or territorial centre is near Lake Quinsigamond, within the city of Worcester.

The cities of Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea and Somerville, and the towns of Arlington, Belmont, Brookline, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Revere, Watertown, Winchester and Winthrop, comprising territory within a radius of eight miles from the State House, contain 480,419 people, or 29+ per cent of the whole population of the State. The same cities and towns, in 1865, had a population of 352,577, showing a gain of 127,842, or 36 per cent. If the radius be extended to twelve miles from the State House, and to the cities and towns just enumerated there be added the cities of Lynn and Newton, and the towns of Braintree, Dedham, Hyde Park, Hull, Lexington, Lynnfield, Milton, Nahant, Needham, Quincy, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Waltham and Woburn, it is found that Boston and territory, within twelve miles, have a population of 603,909, or 36+ per cent of the whole population of the State. The population of the cities and towns named within twelve miles of Boston, including the latter city, for 1865 and 1875, with the increase or loss in each, are given in the following table, from which it will be seen that the total population in 1865, of Boston and vicinity as specified, was 435,432, and the net gain has been 168,477, or 39—per cent. The asterisk indicates territorial changes, which are explained under NOTES, page 752.

The relative population in cities and towns in the State has changed the balance, in 1875, to the side of the cities; in 1865, the towns had 762,344, and the cities 504,687; now the cities show 836,933, and the towns 814,979; balance in favor of the cities, 21,954, while in 1865 the balance in favor of the towns was 257,657. This result has been reached, partly, by the incorporation of the new cities, Haverhill, Somerville, Fitchburg, Holyoke, Gloucester and Newton, all of which ranked as towns in 1865; their aggregate population is now 97,904. The gain in the whole State, it has been seen, was 30.38 per cent over 1865. The population of the present nineteen cities is 836,933, as has been stated, while the population in 1865 of the same territory was 580,941, a gain of 255,992, or 44+ per cent, and this is 66+ per cent of the whole gain in the State. The present towns of the State have a population of 814,979; in 1865, the same territory had a population of 686,090, a gain of 128,889, or 18+ per cent. To summarize: the gain in the whole State since 1865 has been 30+ per cent; in the cities, 44+ per cent; in the towns, 18+ per cent.

The following table shows the population of cities in 1875, and of same territory in 1865. Italics signify towns in 1865 now cities:—

On page 725, POPULATION FOR 1865 AND 1875, is a comparison of population by this Census and that of 1865. The number of towns in the State in which the population has increased is 200, and their total gain is 491,242; the number of towns in which the population has decreased is 142, and their total decrease is 106,361, the net increase being 384,881. The counties in which loss has taken place are Barnstable, Dukes, Nantucket and Norfolk, that in the latter county resulting from loss of territory. The losses have taken place in small farming towns, as a rule, remote from markets, and not well accommodated by railroads; although many towns will be noticed in the list which have lost in population from loss of territory. All such matters are set forth in NOTES, p. 753. From 1855 to 1865, the number of towns in which the population decreased was 166, or 24 more than from 1865 to 1875.

The comparison of the population in 1875 with that in other years, is readily made by table on page 733, CENSUSES OF POPULATION DURING ONE HUNDRED YEARS.

From this table, the percentage of gain in each county for each census period since 1776, and the percentage of gain for the entire century, by counties, are readily drawn, and are presented in the following table:—

Taking the growth since 1865 as the basis, we calculate the population for each year since then as follows:—

YEARS.	Population.	YEARS.	Population.
1865,	1,267,031	1871,	1,497,959
1866,	1,305,519	1872,	1,536,447
1867,	1,344,007	1873,	1,574,935
1868,	1,382,495	1874,	1,613,424
1869,	1,420,983	1875,	1,651,912
1870,	1,459,471

The actual population in 1870, by the United States census, was 1,457,351, or only 2,120 less than the calculated number.

The population of Massachusetts for each year of the decade closing in 1885, is estimated to be as follows:—

YEARS.	Population.	YEARS.	Population.
1876,	1,702,080	1881,	1,952,923
1877,	1,752,249	1882,	2,003,091
1878,	1,802,417	1883,	2,053,260
1879,	1,852,586	1884,	2,103,428
1880,	1,902,754	1885,	2,153,597

Massachusetts, of the United States, stands seventh in rank as to total population. New York holds the first place, Pennsylvania the second, Ohio the third, Illinois the fourth, Missouri the fifth, and Indiana the sixth. After Massachusetts come Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Iowa, Wisconsin, Alabama, in order named. For density of population, this State stands first in rank, having, in 1875, 211.78 persons to the square mile; in 1865, the average was 162.43; in 1870, 186.84, and 127.50 in 1850. Next to Massachusetts, in this respect, stands Rhode Island, having, in 1870, 190; third, Connecticut, 113.15; fourth, New Jersey, 108.91; fifth, New York, 93.25; sixth, Pennsylvania, 76.56. The State having the least is Colorado, with only .38 to the square mile. In comparison with the density of population in the European states, Massachusetts holds about an average position. In France, Ireland, Denmark, and some other European countries, the average for the past ten years has decreased.

The growth in Massachusetts compares favorably with that of any, excepting, perhaps, Belgium. In this connection, the following table will be of interest; it shows the density of population in the leading countries in the world, and from it it is learned that Massachusetts stands first as regards any of the United States, and sixth as to all countries. The table is compiled from last official censuses, or from the latest official estimates:—

[Owing to a misplacement of the schedules, several errors were made in the presentation of the population of Lynn, by wards. As corrected, Ward 3 has 6,496, and Ward 5, 7,701, Ward 7 has 817, and Ward 6, 7,304. The ward lines being subject to change, a more particular correction of the errors is not deemed necessary. The other wards and the city total are correct, as given on page 4.]

Under POLLS AND VOTERS (page 9), it will be seen that 351,113, or $21\frac{1}{4}$ per cent of the whole population, are legal voters. Of the whole male population, $44+$ per cent are voters, and $56+$ per cent, or 449,686, are ratable polls; the naturalized voters compose 19.7 per cent, or 69,271 of the whole number of voters; and the number of native voters is 281,842, or 80.3 per cent of the whole number. The aliens, meaning for census purposes all males over 20 years of age, of foreign birth, who have not been naturalized, number 79,136, as will be seen by reference to the presentation on page 341. The native born voters constitute $47+$ per cent of the native born males, and the naturalized voters $35+$ per cent of the foreign born males. Again, of the 297,997 native born males over 20 years of age, 281,842, or 94+ per cent, are legal voters; while of the 161,885 foreign born males over 20 years of age, 69,271, or 42+ per cent, are legal voters.

FAMILIES AND DWELLING-HOUSES (page 17). There are 255,518 occupied, and 11,705 unoccupied dwellings, or a total of 267,223 dwelling-houses in the State; and 359,009 families, or 91,786 more families than dwellings; in 1865, the excess of families over dwellings was 61,270; the occupied dwellings contain, on an average, 6.46 persons; in 1865, the average was 6.07; if all the houses in the State were occupied, the average number of persons to each would be 6.18. The average size of family is established at 4.6 persons, while in 1865 it was 4.69.

In the SIZE OF FAMILIES table (page 25) will be found for each city and town the number of families and the size of same, up to 16. Those given as above 16, and in fact many of the very large families, mean hotels, boarding-houses, etc., which are always counted as families for census purposes. The families having three persons are most numerous, numbering 69,987; and those having four persons rank next, giving 66,000; while those having two only rank third, numbering 57,228; and those with five persons stand fourth, showing 53,184; the families composed of six, seven and eight persons then follow in rank, numbering respectively, 37,856, 25,967 and 15,488.

COLOR AND RACE (page 43) pictures the composition, as to race, of our population, and from it we learn by the recapitulation on page 56, that out of 1,651,912, the whole population of the State, 1,635,620 are white, and 16,292 colored; in 1865, the number of colored was 10,167.

The CONJUGAL CONDITION (page 57 to 70) presentation informs us that 54+ per cent, or 907,592 of the population, are single; 645,245, or 39— per cent, are married; 94,151 widowed, and 2,617 divorced, while 2,307 were reported as unknown, the majority probably belonging to the divorced column.

From the same table, it is ascertained that of the single, 449,307 are males, and 458,285 are females, an excess of 8,978 females; of the married, 321,730 are males, and 323,515 are females, an excess of 1,785 females; of the widowed, 20,624 are males, and 73,527 are females, an excess of 52,902 females; of the divorced, 900 are males, and 1,717 are females, an excess of 817 females; of the unknown, 1,822 are males, and 485 females, an excess of 1,337 males, a large proportion being without doubt divorced, but reported unknown. It was seen from the statements under POPULATION AND SEX, that the excess of females over males in the State was 63,146. From the above statement we learn how and from what classes that excess is made, as follows :—

Single women,	8,978
Married women,	1,785
Widowed women,	52,905
Divorced women,	817
Total,	64,485

Deduct excess of males unknown, 1,337, and we find the excess of females by this table is 63,146 as by the first.

AGES (page 71). It has been deemed advisable to report the ages of the people by months and years instead of by quinquennial periods. By the recapitulation of the age presentation (page 269), it will be observed that after reaching 20, there is a concentration upon the quinquennial periods; for instance, at 20, there are 34,677, while at 21, but 30,306; and at 25, there are 36,198, while at 26, only 29,042. Again, at 30, there are 40,736, while at 29 the number is much less, as it is also at 31. At 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60, 65, etc., the same concentration appears. This is entirely owing to the answers given by the people, many of whom are careless in giving their ages, preferring, for instance, to say they are 45, rather than give an exact age either side, while many are ignorant of their real age, and almost invariably give the quinquennial division for a guess. This practice is noticeable in all censuses, in all countries, but upon comparison we find the practice less prominent in this census than in most we have examined. This is owing to the time allowed in which to answer inquiries. The whole number of children five years of age and under is 208,709: males, 103,950; females, 104,759. In 1865, it was 133,943.

The average age of all living males is 27 years 6 months; of all living females, 27 years 10 months; of all, 27 years 8 months; while from the Massachusetts Registration Reports it is learned that the average age to which all live is about 30.

The average age of the living males over 20 is 40 years 9 months; of females, 40 years 6 months; and the average age of all persons in the State above 20 is 40 years 7½ months. The average death age of all who die above 20 is about 52.

Those people from 15 to 60 years of age belong to the productive age, while those under 15 and over 60 belong to the dependent age.

NOTE.—The unknown are not included in this table.

From the above table it will be seen that of the whole population 1,043,992 belong to the producing class,—a gain of 276,615 over the same class in 1865, or 72—per cent of the whole gain (384,881) in population. An examination of the figures in the table for the different counties will prove of great interest; for instance, Barnstable shows a loss under 15, and between 15 and 60, but a decided gain over 60; that is to say, the producing class in Barnstable County is growing less, while the dependent increases. Such points compared with the NOTES, on loss and gain, etc. (page 753), can not fail to interest the social scientist. See also remarks on OCCUPATIONS.

PLACE OF BIRTH, FOREIGN BORN AND NATIVITIES WITH AGES: ALIENS, are three presentations so closely allied they will be considered together. By the recapitulation on page 284, it is ascertained that out of a population of 1,651,912, there were born in the town where they now live, 596,971, or 36+ per cent of the whole; 376,040 were born in other towns in the State, and 252,818 in other States in the United States, while 418,904, or 25+ per cent of the total population, were born in foreign countries, and of 7,179 the birth-place was not ascertained. The native born, then, number 1,225,829, or 74+ per cent of the whole population. Of the whole population, 973,011, or 59—per cent, were born in Massachusetts. In 1865, the number of Massachusetts birth was 828,156, a gain in 1875 of 144,855. The foreign born in 1865 were 265,486, or 21 per cent of the total population, as against 418,904 in 1875, a gain of 153,418, or 9,563 more than the increase of those of Massachusetts birth. The number born in the United States, or the entire native born in Massachusetts, in 1865, was 999,976; in 1875, as stated, 1,225,829, a gain of 225,853; so the total gain in native born is 62,435 in excess of the gain in foreign born (153,418), the total gain in population being 384,881.

The presentation, FOREIGN BORN (pages 285 to 338), shows by towns the location of the foreign born citizens; for instance, under born in England, there is given each town having English born inhabitants, and their number, with sex. On page 339 is a recapitulation by nationalities; in fact, an analysis of the nationality of the 418,904 foreign born; and of this number it will be seen that 234,556, or 56—per cent of the whole number of foreign, were born in Ireland. In 1865, the Irish born were 69—per cent of the foreign born. The Dominion of Canada furnishes the next largest number, or 86,022; while England contributes 49,139; Germany, 17,539; Scotland, 12,816. There were 214 born at sea, and 991 were American citizens born abroad. The balance comes from all parts of the world.

The following table exhibits the number and nationality of the population of Massachusetts at three periods, 1855, 1865 and 1875, with the increase and percentage of increase during the two decades, 1855-1865 and 1865-1875. [England, in the table, includes 1,314 born in British Possessions not specified.]

If, now, we examine the recapitulation on page 377, we shall learn the division as to ages of the native and foreign born, as follows:—

	Under 10.	10 to 14, inc.	15 to 20, inc.	Above 20.
The State, . . . Totals,	338,293	145,527	195,875	972,217
Native born, . . . “	318,825	125,696	158,910	628,789
Foreign born, . . . “	19,468	19,831	36,965	343,428

Of the native born above 20, the males number 297,997, and the females, 330,792; of the foreign born above 20, the males number 161,885, and the females, 181,543. The aliens, or males of foreign birth above 20 years of age not naturalized, are 79,136.

These points are interesting, in view of the agitation of the suffrage question; the recruiting field consists of 330,792 females native born above 20; 181,543 females foreign born above 20; 512,335 total number of females above 20 years of age. The nativity of parents is not called for by the Massachusetts census.

Our census, of course, gives no data as to natives of Massachusetts in other States, but in the following table, compiled from the United States censuses for 1860 and 1870, will be found the number of natives of Massachusetts in other States, and of natives of other States in Massachusetts.

The foregoing table shows 200,107 people in Massachusetts, in 1870, born in other States of the United States; the census of Massachusetts for 1875 shows 252,818, a gain of 52,711 since 1870.

BIRTHS: NATIVITIES OF MOTHERS (page 379), is a most valuable presentation, and is the result of the inquiry on the family schedule, "Number of children borne by women." The object was to ascertain the relative fecundity of women of different nationalities, and to settle, so far as Massachusetts is concerned, the question which continually arises concerning the growth of our native population as compared with that of our foreign born. The table is full of instruction, but space permits us to call attention to salient points only.

The total number of women in this State who are or have been married, is 398,759, and the number who have become mothers is 309,520; of this number, 190,311, or 61+ per cent, are native born mothers, and 119,209, or 38+ per cent, are foreign born mothers; that is, while the population stands 74+ per cent native and 25+ per cent foreign, the mothers are 61+ per cent native and 38+ per cent foreign.

Of 631,131, the whole number of native born females, 190,311, or 30+ per cent, have become mothers; while of 222,825, the whole number of foreign born females, 119,209, or 53+ per cent, have become mothers; again, of the 330,792 native born females in the State over 20 years of age, 57+ per cent are mothers; and of the 181,543 foreign born females over 20 years of age, 66— per cent are mothers.

As regards births, the following statement gives the averages :—

Average number of births to native born mothers,	3.52
foreign born mothers,	4.91
all mothers,	4.05

Average number of births to Massachusetts mothers,	3.55
Irish mothers,	5.03
Canadian mothers,	4.78
other British mothers,	4.40
German mothers,	4.23

The presentation gives all these facts, except averages, by towns, and the recapitulation will be found on pages 433–435, all arranged as to native and foreign mothers.

Four mothers are reported as having borne twenty-five children each, and the statements are well authenticated. One statement of a mother that was said to have borne twenty-six children was not deemed sufficiently reliable for presentation.

By reference to the Massachusetts Registration Report for 1875, we find that the total number of living births for 1874 was 45,631; by dividing those having one foreign parent and those of unknown parentage equally, and giving half to the side of American and half to the foreign born parents, 20,666 of the births in 1874 were to American parents, and 24,965 to foreign born parents. Now, by comparing the births in 1874 with the mothers in 1875, we reach the following proportions :—

Whole number of births, 45,631; whole number of mothers, 309,520, or one birth to every $6\frac{3}{4}$ mothers; whole number of births to native born mothers, 20,666, and whole number of native born mothers, 190,311, or one birth to every 9 mothers; whole number of births to foreign born mothers, 24,965, and whole number of foreign born mothers, 119,209, or one birth to every $4\frac{3}{4}$ mothers. In other words, 190,311 native mothers, in 1874, had 20,666 children, while 119,209 foreign born mothers had 24,965.

This preponderance of foreign births in this State over native, for the past seven years, is shown in percentages by the following table from the Registration Reports :—

Percentage of American and Foreign LIVING BIRTHS in each of the past Eight Years.

YEARS.	American.	Foreign.	One Parent Foreign.	YEARS.	American.	Foreign.	One Parent Foreign.
1867, . .	42.36	48.75	8.89	1871, . .	40.17	48.61	11.22
1868, . .	43.05	47.60	9.35	1872, . .	39.45	49.21	11.34
1869, . .	42.07	48.01	9.92	1873, . .	39.98	48.24	11.78
1870, . .	41.01	48.33	10.66	1874, . .	38.89	48.43	12.68

From this it seems that the percentage of births to American parents constantly diminishes; those to foreign parents remains quite constant; those to mixed parentage being on the increase. These statements assume a different value when considered in connection with the mortuary results of like periods; and for facts we must refer again to Dr. Draper's analysis in the last Registration Report, from which we draw the following table of the mortality in 1874, giving the parent nativity of all deceased in that year, by ages :—

By the above table, it will be seen that the death rate of foreign born is much in excess of that of American born until fifty years of age is reached. The general result for a series of years is the same, evidenced by the following table of deaths since 1867, by years and percentages:—

The preceding tables from the Registration Reports, with the results drawn from the census as stated, as well as the difficulty found in any enumeration of the people, in ascertaining parentage, lead to one important conclusion, and that has been so well stated by Dr. F. W. Draper, in the reports referred to, we give it in his words: "When it is remembered that we reckon as American every child that is born in America, even though both his parents are of foreign stock, the apparent significance of the contrasts shown becomes somewhat modified. We seek to avoid erroneous inferences in this direction, by carrying our comparison backward one generation, and studying the results with reference to the nativity of the parents of decedents. The time is coming when any tables like these, seeking to discriminate the nativity of persons deceased, and to suggest deductions therefrom, will lose much of their present interest and value; for the rate of immigration is no longer what it was a generation ago, and the children of the foreign parent-nativity of that day are now the parents of a new generation of children, whose claim to being American is more and more manifest and reasonable."

BLIND, DEAF, DUMB, ETC. (page 437), gives the enumeration of the blind, deaf, dumb, deaf and dumb, idiotic and the insane. The totals show 2,806 blind, 7,241 deaf, 129 dumb, 654 deaf and dumb, 1,340 idiotic and 3,637 insane. These figures are considered perfectly reliable, except as to the deaf and dumb; it is evident that many of those reported as deaf or as dumb, should be classified among the deaf and dumb; the actual number of this latter class is undoubtedly more than given above; the discrepancy, if any, arises from an effort to make a perfect classification; as it is, the enumeration shows, of deaf and dumb, 654, as compared with 561 in 1865. The blind, in 1865, numbered 762; the insane, 2,391; and the idiotic, 863. In the coming Eighth Annual Report of this Bureau, a full presentation of the causes of blindness, deafness, idiocy, insanity, etc., will be given, together with full particulars as to the degree of infirmity, length of time afflicted, age at which afflicted, hereditary and congenital influences, and also the extent of pauperism among the afflicted classes.

PAUPERS AND CONVICTS. By the recapitulation on page 451, it will be seen there are 4,342 paupers, 2,388 males, and 1,954 females; and 4,340 convicts, 3,578 males, and 762 females. The number of paupers given includes only those receiving full support at town, county and state institutions, May 1, 1875. The number has been verified by collateral returns, and is reliable. The number of convicts given includes all undergoing sentence, May 1, 1875; it does not include the inmates of the Industrial School for Girls at Lancaster, because, by the provisions of the law creating the institution, the inmates can not properly be classified as convicts. The place of birth of paupers and convicts will be found on page 451. The number of paupers reported in 1865 was 5,200, while the number of convicts was 1,754.

Under the sub-titles, CLASSIFIED OCCUPATIONS, SELECTED OCCUPATIONS and OCCUPATIONS BY NAME for the State, will be found all the facts relating to the employments of the people. The three presentations will be considered together. The recapitulation of classified occupations (page 476), embodying the classification of the English and United States censuses, shows the general division of employment as follows :—

I.	Government and Professional,		29,730
II.	Domestic and Personal Office,		424,289
III.	Trade and Transportation,		104,935
IV.	Agriculture, Fisheries, etc.,		81,156
V.	Manufactures and Mechanical Industries,		316,459
VI.	Non-productive and Propertied,		65,430
VII.	Students, all grades,		282,784
VIII.	Not given (including children under 5, unemployed persons and children of school age not attending school),		347,129

A summary of the special occupations included under each class will be found on page 610.

By SELECTED OCCUPATIONS we mean those in which the majority of the inhabitants of a town or city are engaged. By reference to page 481, it will be seen that in this presentation there is given in one column the names of the towns and of the selected occupations, as clergymen, farmers, etc., and in the second column the number engaged in each; in the third, the number in town engaged in all occupations; for instance, in the town of Barnstable there are 2,552 people engaged in all occupations, and of that number we give the specific calling of 2,210. This presentation enables one to learn at a glance the chief occupations of the people, by sex, of any town or city in the State.

The next showing is OCCUPATIONS BY NAME (page 573). Here is given the entire number in the State, without reference to locality, engaged in the various vocations followed by the people. The intention was to make this presentation minute in detail and complete in classification, that the actual number of persons engaged in any occupation, by which a livelihood was secured, or upon which they chiefly depended might be known. To this end heads of families and enumerators were supplied with the following instructions on this point:

“Where practicable, and especially where it may seem necessary for the sake of explicitness, every person, in respect to their trade, profession or occupation, is desired to state these three things: the general name of the trade, the particular name of the branch followed, the material worked upon. As, 'Factory Operative—Cotton Spinner.' In many cases the general name indicates these three things, and is sufficient of itself: as, 'Tinsmith.' Mechanics should, in no case, return themselves as mechanics, but should state the specific trade followed: as, 'Machinist,' 'Plumber,' etc. In those trades which have subdivisions, they should also state the specific branch which they follow: as, 'Shoemaker—Laster,' 'Hatter—Finisher.' So factory operatives should give the specific name indicating the branch of work they perform, and the material worked upon: as, 'Factory Operative—Cotton-Spooler'; 'Factory Operative—Woollen Weaver.' So, all engaged as workers in any and every kind of manufacturing process, should give firstly the general name, if there be one, indicating thus with some exactness the trade they follow and the material worked upon, and secondly, the specific name, indicating thus precisely the particular work they do."

Like instructions applied to all branches,—to persons employed in all industrial processes, owning or hiring farms, employed in stores as clerks and salesmen, requiring the latter to specify the branch, as "dry goods," "drug," "grocery," etc., railroad officials and employés, physicians, clergymen, etc. The instruction to ministers was to add the denomination; in all respects the details of the directions were full and complete. Notwithstanding this, there are 35,349 designated under various heads, as "not specified"; that is, they appear under the general designation, but not under the specific. This number is really small, but it would have been exceedingly gratifying to have had the results entirely in specific details. The bulk of the not specified is under traders, salesmen and clerks, these furnishing 20,046 out of the 35,349; nearly all the rest will be found under boot and shoe, and cotton factory operatives, and printers, under which general name compositors made returns.

It should not be understood that so many clerks, salesmen, traders, printers, etc., have not been returned and accounted for; as clerks, salesmen, traders, etc., they have, under the general names; but they do not appear as dry-goods clerks, or hardware salesmen, or book-traders. Persons having more than one occupation were instructed to give only the one upon which they chiefly depended for a livelihood; thus, for instance, the number of constables, or postmasters or municipal officers given may not be the actual number of postmasters, or constables or municipal officers in the State, but is the number of those persons depending upon their earnings in those callings for their support.

This presentation, OCCUPATIONS BY NAME, exhibits the real composition, as to labor, of the population of the State; it gives the producing and the non-producing, the dependent and the self-supporting, the idle and those who live at home in a semi-assistant character; it shows the relation to the head of the family of the great unemployed class, and it gives many lessons relating to our social system.

Under AGES we found the dependent classes—those under 15 and over 60 years of age—numbered, under 15, 485,958; over 60, 111,660; total, 597,618; and those of the producing age, 15 to 60, 1,043,992. This, of course, is an arbitrary division.

The terms producing and productive are applied generally to all occupations, or persons, which help to carry on the affairs of business, and include professional men as well as mechanics and farmers. The terms non-productive and unemployed are applied to all who take no part in the work of life.

By the presentations we are considering, the total number of those of all ages having no occupation is 638,661, divided into classes as follows:—

Retired (page 605),	1,787
Non-productive,—blind, insane, etc., having no occupation (page 607),	6,961
Unemployed, having no occupation (page 607),	347,129
At school (page 633),	282,784
Total,	638,661

The whole number, of all ages, having an occupation (perhaps not actually employed, however), is 1,013,251.

The actual dependent class includes the whole 638,661, except the retired, 1,787.

The total number of persons having occupations in which something is actually produced is 450,742, employed as follows:—

Agriculture and fisheries,	77,601
Manufactures and mechanical industries,	316,459
Laborers,	52,179
Apprentices and indefinite,	4,503
Total,	450,742

That is, 27+ per cent of the whole population are found in these occupations employed in raising food or producing manufactured articles, and the result of their labor was, in dollars and cents, for the year ending May 1, 1875, $639,877,465, or a product of $1,419.61 to each man, woman and child in the actually producing occupations. In Vol. II. will be shown the number actually employed, their wages, etc.

Those engaged in the leading industries are classified as follows :—

In agriculture, care of animals and fisheries,	81,156
Boots and shoes,	48,279
Building,	46,255
Clothing,	28,935
Furniture,	7,067
Leather,	8,161
Machines and machinery,	14,905
Metals and metallic goods,	22,699
Paper,	4,939
Printing,	4,641
Stonework,	4,945
Textile fabrics,	85,287
Wooden goods,	5,377

On pages 612, 613 are recapitulations of all occupations, by sex and age ; and from this it is seen that 416 under 10 years of age, and 13,682 from 10 to 15, have been reported as engaged in various occupations.

Under Domestic Service (page 577) will be found housewives and housework ; the former are those in charge of their own households, and who attend personally to its duties ; the latter are persons in the family, sisters, daughters and others who are not servants for wages, but yet perform a most important part in the family work. House-keepers mean those keeping house for wages.

Those given as Non-Productive (page 607) are the blind, insane, convict, etc., for whom no occupation was given ; a large number, the majority in fact of the blind, insane, convict, etc., have or have had some kind of an occupation, which, in each case, has been given. The most of the 6,961 reported under this head are actual dependents.

Under Occupation not Given (page 607) will be found a classification of all those who have no occupation, are unemployed and reside with the head of family. From this exhibit it is learned that there are 13,961 sons and 42,156 daughters, over 15 years of age, at home, having no occupation, nor attending school. There are 8,735 male and 2,541 female heads of families having nothing to do but to superintend the household ; and there are 4,786 wives of heads of families simply ornamental. There are 1,676 fathers, 690 fathers-in-law, 7,352 mothers, and 4,588 mothers-in-law, who find homes with their children, who have become heads of families of their own. The whole table will be found of interest and value, and very complete; it accounts for 347,129 of the people of the State.

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL PROPERTY (page 615). Under this sub-title are given the number of public, incorporated and unincorporated private schools, and the value of school buildings and school property used by each, not including value of libraries. This presentation is by cities and towns. The aggregate shows 3,317 public schools, occupying buildings to the value of $21,248,736, and using apparatus to the value of $1,050,252. The incorporated private schools, including colleges, number 131, and they occupy buildings valued at $4,297,181, and use apparatus to the value of $354,446. The unincorporated private schools number 172, with $295,260 worth of buildings and $31,025 in apparatus. The statistics of unincorporated private schools are not entirely complete. The census was taken in the summer, and teachers were not, in many instances, to be found; we give what we have: the tabulations are generally full, with the exception of those for Suffolk County, which are to some extent deficient. Unincorporated private schools usually occupy hired rooms or buildings, consequently values have no importance as to this class of schools.

Under SCHOOL ATTENDANCE (page 625), is given, by towns, the number of children attending school at least three months during the year ending May 1, 1875, and from the recapitulation, on page 633, it is learned that the whole number of all ages is 282,784; 1,269 being under 5 years of age, 254,568 between 5 and 15, and 26,947 above 15. From the returns made to the Board of Education contemporaneously with the census returns, there appear to be 300,834 children between 5 and 15 years of age in the State, and this number is fully sustained by the census. These statements indicate that there were 46,266 children in the State between 5 and 15 years of age, who had not "attended school three months during the year ending May 1, 1875." To use the returns to the Board of Education entirely, we find that there were 276,479 children between 5 and 15 in the public schools, and 300,834, as stated, of that age in the State. This statement indicates that there are 24,355 between 5 and 15 not in the public schools. These two results, or the premises which indicate results, prove two things: first, how difficult it is to learn the exact facts relative to school attendance without asking the precise age, in years and months, of every child, and whether it has ever attended school at all, and when and how long it has attended. This involves great minuteness in inquiry, which requires legislative sanction. Second, that by the census and by the sworn returns of school boards, there is a large number of children of school age (5 to 15) in the State that did not last year have the benefit, for any length of time, of the public schools; it is not shown by either statement that a large number are growing up without any schooling; for many, and perhaps the most, have received schooling in previous years, and many probably received private instruction. This is not the place for a discussion of this matter; the facts are given as they appear, and they call for stringent legislation relative to the annual returns by school boards.

An important feature of this presentation is the classification of school attendance, page 633, as follows:—

	Males.	Females.	Totals.

CHILDREN AT WORK AND AT SCHOOL, a presentation following the SCHOOL ATTENDANCE, and closely allied to it, is of great importance; the recapitulation upon page 642 betrays a few points demanding attention by the executors of law. The number of children under 10 at work in manufactories is 248, and of this number only 74 attended school during the year ending May 1, 1875, as required by law; the number between 10 and 15 employed is 13,017, of which number 4,575 only received the legal amount of schooling during the year ending May 1, 1875; or in the aggregate, 13,265 children were employed May 1, 1875, and but 4,649 of them had received the legal amount of schooling the year previous. To put the matter in another light, there have been 8,616 violations of the laws of the State in this one respect in one year. The facts given are taken from direct returns by heads of families, and the name and residence of every child of the whole 13,265 is in the possession of the Bureau. The table under the above sub-title gives their location by cities and towns.

The ILLITERACY of the State is presented on page 643, by towns, and recapitulated on pages 665-667. Illiterates have been, in this census, classified as those persons who can not read, but can write; can not write, but can read; and can neither read nor write; of the first class there are 307; of the second, 26,656; of the third, 77,550; total, 104,513,—above 10 years of age, or about $6\frac{1}{3}$ per cent of the whole population. The disproportion in the numbers of those who have returned themselves able to write, but could not read (307), and those who answered that they could not write, but could read (26,656), is to be explained only on one supposition. Illiterates are not, as a rule, desirous of making their ignorance known; they often say, when you desire them to write their name, as the enumerator would, they can not write, but they can read; if they should answer that they could write, they would be called upon at once to sign their returns, and they would then be obliged to expose their inability to write; thus few say they can write, but can not read, while many say they can not write, but can read. If they were called upon to read, but not to write, the disproportion would be reversed, and many would be found who could not read, but could write. Of the whole number of illiterates, 6,041 are between the ages of 10 and 15, inclusive; 5,554 are between 16 and 19, inclusive; 2,129 from 20 to 21, inclusive, and the balance, or 90,789,—more than 86 per cent of the whole,—are above 21 years of age. The native born illiterates number 12,150 (more than half being above 21), or less than one per cent of the native born population; the foreign born illiterates number 92,363, or 22+ per cent of the whole foreign born population; 83,842 of 92,363 foreign born illiterates are above 21 years of age. Of the native born illiterates, 7,646 were born in Massachusetts; this is about $\frac{8}{10}$ of 1 per cent of the Massachusetts born population, 973,011. Of the Massachusetts born illiterates, 3,275 were of foreign parents. There are 4,505 illiterates from other States of the United States, or $1\frac{7}{10}$ per cent of those born in other States; 67,164, or 28+ per cent of the whole Irish born in this State, are illiterates; 17,537, or 20+ per cent of those born in Canada; 2,831, or 6— per cent of the English born; 2,246, or 60 per cent of those born in Portugal; 658, or 4— per cent of the Germans; 580, or 34— per cent of the Italians; 486, or 4— per cent of the Scotch. The classification of illiterates by place of birth will be found on page 667.

In 1865, the total number of illiterates above 20 was 50,110. The seemingly large increase since then has two explanations: the census of 1865, in this particular, was not reliable, and immigration since 1865 has been much more than during the war period preceding the census of 1865.

Under LIBRARIES BY TOWNS will be found the statistics of secular and religious libraries in all the cities and towns, with a recapitulation on page 677, by which it is seen that the total number of public libraries of all kinds in the State is 1,875, divided as follows: 172 state, city and town public libraries, 62 school, 6 college, 54 scientific and artistic, 5 hospital, 120 association and 88 circulating,—total, 507 public secular libraries; 65 church, 1,276 Sunday school, 27 association,—total, 1,368 religious public libraries. The yearly circulation of all these is 7,976,128; the value of buildings owned exclusively by libraries is $2,854,529. The amount of endowment for the support of libraries is $1,235,025. All facts respecting libraries are given by towns and cities, and are complete. On page 703 will be found LIBRARIES BY NAME, giving for each city and town the name of every secular and religious public library; this list, it is believed, is full and correct, with two or three minor exceptions.

An attempt was made, in the enumeration, to secure a full account of all private libraries, but in this census, as in all, state or national, the efforts in this direction failed of success. To be sure, many towns made an excellent showing: Adams returned 34,307 volumes; Pittsfield, 17,379; Stockbridge, 4,967; New Bedford (3 wards), 10,425; Boxford, 12,105; Salem (4 wards), 64,797; West Newbury, 4,125; Greenfield, 16,375; Amherst, 17,655; Cambridge (4 wards), 191,500; Concord, 50,361; Malden, 18,604; Newton (5 wards), 99,181; Reading, 7,930; Winchester, 10,550; Boston (12 wards), 240,069; Chelsea, 13,927; Leicester, 6,405; Webster, 10,550; Worcester (6 wards), 51,410. These indicate what might have been shown; as it is, no private library presentation is made. We simply give the totals by counties in the following table, and regret the failure to make the statistics complete:—

On page 753 will be found a chapter of NOTES on the incorporation of counties, cities and towns; unusual changes in population, with causes for same; changes in names, areas, boundaries, etc. The data in this chapter, so far as the incorporation of towns and cities and the dates of changes in boundaries are concerned, are taken from a compilation by the Secretary of State in 1860, and it has been, so far as practicable, revised and made complete up to the present time. Errors may be found in a few instances, but they occur, if at all, when the record is imperfect, or gives two dates. The causes of loss or gain, when unusual, were derived from certificates of enumerators after the census was taken; these reasons are given briefly, and without attempt at argument or discussion.

Whenever changes in name or area of cities or towns have taken place since 1865, they are indicated in table of POPULATION FOR 1865 AND 1875 (page 725), and CENSUSES OF POPULATION DURING ONE HUNDRED YEARS (page 733), by an asterisk, and the facts are given under NOTES. It is hoped this chapter will prove not only of interest but of value to the public.

In the APPENDIX (page 775), two tables of general value are given. Table I., entitled Aggregate of Polls, Valuation, Taxes, Houses, Horses, Cows, Sheep and Taxable Land during Fifteen Years—1861 to 1875, was prepared from returns of assessors to the Secretary of State, and is particularly valuable to members of the legislature, as it brings into small space various facts which they need. It is valuable in another sense, because the census takes account of animals on farms only, while this table gives all animals in the State.

Table II. is entitled Valuation and Products for the Year ending May 1, 1875. Valuation is from the returns of assessors to the Secretary of State, and the products from the census as shown in the second and third volumes. This table will be repeated in each volume of the census. The total products for 1875 are shown to be, in currency, as follows:—

Manufactures and fisheries,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$596,415,866 00
Agriculture and mining,	.	.	.	.	.	.	43,461,599 00
Aggregate,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$639,877,465 00

For 1865:—

Manufactures and fisheries,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$444,524,353 00
Agriculture and mining,	.	.	.	.	.	.	51,149,576 00
Aggregate,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$495,673,929 00

These values should be reduced to a gold basis, in both years, in order to be of any service in comparison, as values; of course the only true comparison in products must be by quantity produced, but for this volume we use values, leaving a comparison of quantities for the appropriate volumes, where full analyses of returns of products will be given. On a gold basis of values the products of the State for 1875 and 1865 were as follows:—

For 1875:—

Manufactures and fisheries,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$532,514,166 00
Agriculture and mining,	.	.	.	.	.	.	38,804,999 00
Aggregate,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$571,319,165 00

For 1865:—

Manufactures and fisheries,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$283,136,530 00
Agriculture and mining,	.	.	.	.	.	.	32,579,347 00
Aggregate,	.	.	.	.	.	.	$315,715,877 00

From this it is seen that a gain of $255,603,288, on a gold basis, or 81— per cent, has been made in the productions of the State since 1865. The population increased 30.38 per cent. The proportion of property, real and personal, according to valuation, to products, was as 3 to 1, in 1875; in 1865, as 2 to 1.

We have not endeavored to make a complete analysis of the various tables in this volume; to do so would require another work of considerable size; but we have aimed to bring into summaries and combinations simply those features a casual examiner would expect to find pointed out for him, and to indicate the study which might be made of the facts presented. So many manipulations of totals can be made, and so various are the lessons to be taught, that it is simply impossible for us to do more than has been done. We could not expect to make all the combinations, additions and special presentations which at once suggest themselves, nor to make those which the student of statistics will want; he must make up his own special showings. Our province has been to furnish him with all the results of the enumeration, and leave mathematical work to take such shape as his investigations dictate.

CHILDREN AT WORK AND AT SCHOOL.

CHILDREN AT WORK AND AT SCHOOL.

[The column "At Work," comprehends those children under 15 years of age at work during the year ending May 1, 1875. The column "At Work and at School," gives the number of those at work who attended school for at least three months during that year. The difference between the amounts of the total columns gives the number of children who were at work and did not attend school.]

NOTES.

DATES OF INCORPORATION, CHANGES OF NAMES, AREA, POPULATION, ETC., OF COUNTIES, CITIES AND TOWNS.

NOTES

On Incorporation of Counties, Cities and Towns; Unusual Changes in Population, with causes for same, etc.; Changes in Town Names, Boundaries, etc.

[Loss or gain means loss or gain by the census of 1875, in comparison with that of 1865. This is not given unless it is unusual, and seems to be called for by special reasons.]

The date after the name of a town or city is the date of incorporation. These dates are taken from an abstract of the U. S. Census of 1860, prepared under the direction of the Secretary of State of Massachusetts. The dates of incorporation of towns or cities established since then, or of changes in area, boundary lines, etc., are from other official sources.]

BARNSTABLE COUNTY.

[Incorporated June 2, 1685. Loss, 2,466; general cause, depression in the fisheries.]

BARNSTABLE.—Sept. 3, 1639. The decline in commerce, especially in the coasting business, has caused a loss of over 600.

BREWSTER.—Feb. 9, 1803, from northerly part of Harwich. Part of Harwich also annexed to Brewster, June 21, 1811. Loss, over 200; by removals to seek better business facilities.

CHATHAM.—June 11, 1712. Boundary line between it and Orleans, and between it and Harwich, changed in 1862. The beach in front of Chatham has been washed away in recent years, compelling fishing-vessels to seek other ports. This, in connection with the fact that the town is so far from the railroad as to interfere with getting shell-fish, etc., to market readily, has caused a loss of nearly 400.

DENNIS.—June 19, 1793. Out of the East Precinct of Yarmouth.

EASTHAM.—June 2, 1646. The young men do not go to sea as much as formerly, but seek employment in large towns; hence the population declines.

FALMOUTH.—June 4, 1686. Part of Marshpee District annexed March 17, 1841.

HARWICH.—Sept. 14, 1694. See Brewster and Chatham.

MASHPEE.—May 28, 1870. Plantation of Marshpee incorporated June 14, 1763. Parts of it afterwards annexed to Falmouth and Sandwich, which see. Incorporated as District of Marshpee, March 31, 1834. The interest in raising cranberries helps the prospects of Mashpee.

ORLEANS.—March 3, 1797. Southerly part of Eastham. Part of Eastham annexed to Orleans, March 9, 1839. Boundary line between it and Eastham defined March 23, 1867. See Chatham. Same causes which affect other Cape towns result in loss of over 200.

PROVINCETOWN.—June 14, 1727. From Cape Cod Precinct. Parts of Truro annexed June 12, 1813, March 2, 1829, and March 30, 1836. The building of a railroad to Provincetown has tended to stimulate the growth of the town.

SANDWICH.—Sept. 3, 1639. Part of Plantation of Marshpee annexed Feb. 26, 1811, and parts of District of Marshpee, April 1, 1859, and March 13, 1860. See Mashpee. Loss over 700, caused largely by depression in the manufacture of glass.

TRURO.—July 16, 1709. Boundary line between Truro and Wellfleet established Feb. 22, 1837. See Provincetown. Loss, nearly 400; from general depression in fisheries.

WELLFLEET.—June 16, 1763. North Precinct of Eastham. See Truro. Loss, about 300.

YARMOUTH.—Sept. 3, 1639. See Dennis.

BERKSHIRE COUNTY.

[Incorporated April 24, 1761. See Hampshire County. Gain, 11,326; principally in Adams and Pittsfield.]

ADAMS.—Oct. 15, 1778. East Hoosuck. See Cheshire. Gain, 7,462 over 8,298; by the development of manufactures.

ALFORD.—Feb. 16, 1773. Westerly part of Great Barrington. Part of latter annexed Feb. 18, 1819. See Egremont.

BECKET.—June 21, 1765. Old "No. 4." Several grants of land annexed to Becket, Feb. 3, 1798. Part of London (Bethlehem District) annexed to Becket, March 1, 1810. See Otis in this county and Middlefield in Hampshire.

CHESHIRE.—March 14, 1793. From parts of Lanesborough, Windsor, Adams and New Ashford. Part of New Ashford annexed to Cheshire, Feb. 6, 1798. See Windsor. The stoppage of a cotton factory about the time of taking the Census, and the breaking up of a settlement of wood-choppers and sand-diggers, for furnace, caused many families to leave town, consequently the town shows no growth in population. The check is probably temporary.

CLARKSBURG.—March 2, 1798. From a gore of unincorporated land lying north of Adams. See Florida.

DALTON.—March 20, 1784. Part of Windsor annexed Feb. 28, 1795. Gain, 622 over 1,137; caused by rebuilding four paper mills and one woollen mill, burned some years ago.

EGREMONT.—Feb. 13, 1760. From lands lying west of Sheffield. Boundary line between Egremont and Alford established Feb. 6, 1790. Parts of Sheffield annexed to Egremont, Feb. 22, 1790, and Feb. 16, 1824; and part of Mt. Washington, June 17, 1817. Boundary line between Egremont and Sheffield established 1869. See Mt. Washington.

FLORIDA.—June 15, 1805. From Bernardston's Grant and a part of Bullock's Grant, unincorporated lands. Part of Clarksburg annexed to Florida, May 2, 1848. Apparent loss, 601. Population in 1855 was 612; in 1865, 1,173; while in 1875 it dropped to 572. These extreme variations were caused by the work on the Hoosac Tunnel. It being nearly completed when the Census was taken, in 1875, the workmen, a large proportion of whom lived in Florida during the work, left, and the town resumed its former position as to population.

GREAT BARRINGTON.—June 30, 1761. North Parish of Sheffield. See Alford. Owing to the idleness of an iron furnace usually employing a large number of men, the population of this town is several hundred less than it probably would have been, as the men thus thrown out of employment have left town with their families. A brick yard and a flock mill are also unoccupied, while the woollen and cotton mills employ smaller forces than usual.

HANCOCK.—July 2, 1776. See New Ashford. Loss 207. Owing to depression in the iron business, the demand for charcoal, in the manufacture of which this town is largely interested, has been very small. This has caused the removal of many families.

HINSDALE.—June 21, 1804. Westerly Parish of Partridgefield [Peru]. The stoppage of three woollen mills, early in 1875, compelled large numbers of people to leave; otherwise Hinsdale would have shown a handsome increase.

LANESBOROUGH.—June 21, 1765. New Framingham. See Cheshire. This town has, by the stoppage of a furnace and a glass factory, lost slightly since 1870.

LEE.—Oct. 21, 1777. From the south-westerly part of Washington, north-easterly part of Great Barrington, the Glass Works Grant, and part of Williams' Grant. See Lenox.

LENOX.—Feb. 26, 1767. East part of Richmond. Parts of Washington annexed to Lenox, Jan. 31, 1795, and Feb. 18, 1802. Boundary line between Lenox and Lee established Feb. 7, 1820.

MONTEREY.—April 12, 1847. Part of Tyringham. Part of New Marlborough annexed to Monterey, May 24, 1851. Part of Sandisfield annexed April 24, 1875.

MT. WASHINGTON.—June 21, 1779. Taconic Mountain. Part of Egremont annexed to Mt. Washington, June 17, 1817. Boundary line established March 12, 1847. See Egremont.

NEW ASHFORD.—Feb. 26, 1781, as a district, and as a town, May 1, 1836. Part of Hancock annexed to New Ashford, June 26, 1798. See Cheshire.

NEW MARLBOROUGH.—June 15, 1759. Old "No. 2." Parts of Sheffield annexed to New Marlborough, June 10, 1795, and Feb. 7, 1798, and April 19, 1871, and part of Tyringham, Feb. 27, 1811. See Monterey and Tyringham.

OTIS.—June 13, 1810. Town of Loudon and District of Bethlehem united as the town of Loudon, June 19, 1809, and the name changed to Otis, June 13, 1810. Part of East (unincorporated land) annexed to Otis, and part to Sandisfield, April 9, 1838. Loss, 101; by the burning of an iron furnace and shutting down of a tannery

PERU.—July 4, 1771, under the name of Partridgefield. Name changed to Peru, June 19, 1806.

PITTSFIELD.—April 21, 1761. Increase has been steady, but the shutting down of two woollen mills and one paper mill the year before the census made the number of the population smaller than it otherwise would have been.

RICHMOND.—June 21, 1765. Yokum and Mount Ephraim. Name changed from Richmond in 1785. Boundary line between Richmond and West Stockbridge established March 24, 1834. See Lenox.

SANDISFIELD.—March 6, 1762. Old "No. 3." District of Southfield united with Sandisfield, Feb. 8, 1819. Portion of boundary between Sandisfield and Tolland defined May 4, 1853. See Otis. Part of Sandisfield annexed to Monterey, April 24, 1875.

SAVOY.—Feb. 20, 1797. Old "No. 6." Loss, 136; owing to depression in iron and lime business in adjoining towns, which furnished employment to many persons in Savoy.

SHEFFIELD.—June 22, 1733. See Egremont and New Marlborough.

STOCKBRIDGE.—June 22, 1739. Housatonnne or Housetonick. Boundary line between Stockbridge and West Stockbridge changed Feb. 6, 1830. See West Stockbridge.

TYRINGHAM.—March 6, 1762. Old "No. 1." Part of New Marlborough annexed to Tyringham, Feb. 11, 1812. See New Marlborough and Monterey. Loss, 133; from failure of paper mills.

WASHINGTON.—April 12, 1777. See Egremont, Middlefield and Lenox. Loss, 256; resulting from inclination to change; no special cause.

WEST STOCKBRIDGE.—Feb. 23, 1774. West part of Stockbridge. Gore of land annexed to West Stockbridge, March 2, 1793. Part of Stockbridge annexed to West Stockbridge, Feb. 12, 1824. See Richmond and Stockbridge.

WILLIAMSTOWN.—June 21, 1765. West Hoosuck. A tract of unincorporated land, bounded west by State of New York. Annexed to Williamstown, April 9, 1838. Gain, 1,128 over 2,555; by establishment of Williamstown Manufacturing Company.

WINDSOR.—July 2, 1771. Gageborough, or old "No. 4." Part of Cheshire annexed to Windsor, Feb. 26, 1794. See Cheshire and Dalton. Loss 129. Population gradually decreases. This town was formerly on direct stage line; now it is so far from the railroad as to seriously injure its interests.

BRISTOL COUNTY.

[Incorporated June 21, 1685. Gain, 41,692; largely in cities and chief towns, from the unusual development of manufacturing interests.]

ACUSHNET.—Feb. 13, 1860. Northerly part of Fairhaven. Part of Acushnet annexed to New Bedford, April 9, 1875. Loss, 192; from loss of territory as above.

ATTLEBOROUGH.—Oct. 19, 1694. Boundary line between it and Wrentham established Feb. 18, 1819. Gain, 3,024 over 6,200; from the development of the manufacture of jewelry; increase also aided by building North Attleborough Branch Railroad.

BERKLEY.—April 18, 1735. From parts of Taunton and Dighton. Part of Dighton annexed to Berkley, Feb. 26, 1799, and parts of Taunton, Feb. 6, 1810, and March 3, 1842. See Freetown. There are no manufactures here, and Taunton draws the young men on account of her facilities for business; hence Berkley loses gradually.

DARTMOUTH.—June 8, 1664. Boundary line between it and Westport changed Feb. 20, 1828. See Westport.

DIGHTON.—May 30, 1712. South Precinct of Taunton. Wellington set off from north part of Dighton, June 9, 1814. Boundary between Dighton and Wellington established Feb. 12, 1824. Wellington and Dighton united as one town, Feb. 22, 1826, and March 3, 1827. See Berkley, Somerset and Freetown. The shutting down of a thread mill has tended to a slight decrease in population.

EASTON.—Dec. 21, 1725. Part of Norton.

FAIRHAVEN.—Feb. 22, 1812. Easterly part of New Bedford. Part of Freetown annexed to Fairhaven, June 15, 1815. See Acushnet in this county, and Rochester in Plymouth.

FALL RIVER.—Feb. 26, 1803. Southerly part of Freetown. Name of Fall River changed to Troy, June 18, 1804. Name of Troy changed to Fall River, Feb. 12, 1834. Incorporated as a city, April 12, 1854. Part of Fall River, R. I., annexed to Fall River, Mass., 1861. See Freetown and Panctucket. Gain, 27,859 over 17,481 population in 1865, or 159+ per cent.; primary cause, development of the manufacture of textile fabrics. Annexation of territory has tended to the general result by furnishing room for increased population within the city limits.

FREETOWN.—July, 1683. The Free Men's land at Fall River. Centre of main ship channel in Taunton Great River established as boundary line of Berkley, Dighton, Freetown, Fall River and Somerset, March 17, 1847. See Fairhaven and Fall River. Loss, about 100; from proximity to business attractions.

MANSFIELD.—April 26, 1770. North Precinct of Norton.

NEW BEDFORD.—Feb. 23, 1787. Easterly part of Dartmouth. Part of Dartmouth annexed to New Bedford, March 20, 1845. Incorporated as a city, March 9, 1847. Act accepted March 18, 1847. Part of Acushnet annexed to New Bedford, April 9, 1875. See Dartmouth and Fairhaven. Gain, about 5,000 over 20,853. The decline of the whaling business has materially interfered with the growth of New Bedford. On the other hand, the erection of the Potomska Mills has to some extent offset this, and assisted in the continued prosperity of the city.

NORTON.—June 12, 1711. North Precinct of Taunton. See Easton and Mansfield. Loss, 114, resulting mainly from the burning of the Norton Furnace Company's Works, and the Norton Steam Power Company's Works.

RAYNHAM.—April 2, 1731. Part of Taunton. Boundary between Raynham and Taunton established Feb. 27, 1866. Stagnation in shoe and iron business has reduced the population 181.

REHOBOTH.—June 4, 1645. See Seekonk. The closing of two cotton mills early in 1875, before the census was taken, operated against an increase in this town, which would otherwise have been realized.

SEEKONK.—Feb. 26, 1812. Westerly part of Rehoboth. Part of Seekonk annexed to Rhode Island, 1861.

SOMERSET.—Feb. 20, 1790. Part of Swansea. Part of Dighton annexed to Somerset, April 4, 1854. See Freetown.

SWANSEA.—Oct. 30, 1667. See Somerset.

TAUNTON.—Sept. 3, 1639. Incorporated as a city, May 13, 1864. See Lakeville (in Plymouth County), also Raynham and Berkley. Gain, 4,440 over 16,005; from natural growth. The burning of the Taunton Car Company's Works, removal of American Screw Company's Works to Providence, R. I., the depression in the iron and brick business, are causes which have prevented a large increase in population.

WESTPORT.—July 2, 1787. Parts of Dartmouth annexed to Westport, Feb. 28, 1785, Feb. 25, 1793, and March 4, 1805. Part of Portsmouth, R. I., annexed to Westport in 1861. See Dartmouth.

DUKES COUNTY.

[Incorporated November 1, 1683. Loss, 129.]

CHILMARK.—Oct. 30, 1714. Manor of Tisbury. In 1820 this town included the Elizabeth Islands. Boundary between Chilmark and the Indians of Gay Head established March 9, 1855. See Gay Head and Gosnold.

EDGARTOWN.—July 8, 1671. Boundary line between Edgartown and Tisbury established Feb. 5, 1830; also April 23, 1862.

GAY HEAD.—April 30, 1870. Part of Chilmark.

GOSNOLD.—March 17, 1864. That part of Chilmark known as Elizabeth Islands.

TISBURY.—July 8, 1671. In 1810 Tisbury included the Elizabeth Islands. See Chilmark and Edgartown. Loss, 173, partly from removals to Oak Bluffs, in Edgartown, where employment has been more readily obtained, and partly from the fact that the deaths have in ten years past exceeded the births by 75.

ESSEX COUNTY.

[Incorporated May 10, 1643. Gain, 52,308; general cause, development of manufactures.]

AMESBURY.—April 29, 1668. New Salisbury, or Salisbury Newtown, a part of Salisbury. Part of Salisbury annexed to Amesbury, March 15, 1844. See Merrimac. Loss, 365; occasioned by incorporation of town of Merrimac from west part of Amesbury, April 11, 1876; otherwise Amesbury would show a gain of 1,806.

ANDOVER.—May 6, 1646. See North Andover, Middleton and Lawrence. Loss, 217; by the closing up of the Whipple File and Steel Works at Ballardvale.

BEVERLY.—Oct. 14, 1668. Bass River. See Danvers.

BOXFORD.—Aug. 12, 1685. Rowley Village. Part of Rowley annexed to Boxford, June 10, 1808, and part of Ipswich, March 7, 1846. Boundary between Boxford and Rowley established June 18, 1825. See Groveland and Middleton.

BRADFORD.—1675. Merrimac. See Groveland and Newbury.

DANVERS.—June 16, 1757. Village and Middle parishes of Salem. Boundary between Danvers and Salem changed March 17, 1840. May 18, 1855, Danvers was divided into two towns; that part known as North Danvers received the name of Danvers, and the remaining portion the name of South Danvers (changed to Peabody, April 13, 1868). Boundary line between Danvers and South Danvers established May 31, 1856. Part of Beverly annexed to Danvers, April 27, 1857.

ESSEX.—Feb. 18, 1819. Second Parish of Ipswich.

GEORGETOWN.—April 21, 1838. New Rowley. Part of Rowley.

GLOUCESTER.—May 22, 1639. Cape Ann. See Rockport. Incorporated as a city, April 28, 1873. Increase in the fishing business has stimulated the growth of Gloucester.

GROVELAND.—March 8, 1850. East Parish of Bradford. Part of Boxford annexed to Groveland, March 21, 1856. Gain, 465; owing largely to additions made by Groveland Mills Company.

HAMILTON.—June 21, 1793. Ipswich Hamlet. A Parish of Ipswich.

HAVERHILL.—1645. Haverhill originally included a large part of the territory of the present towns of Salem, Plaistow, Atkinson and Hampstead in New Hampshire, and Methuen and Lawrence in Massachusetts. Incorporated as a city, March 10, 1869. See Bradford. Gain, nearly 4,000 over 10,740; but during the past two years it has lost probably 1,500 by depression in shoe business.

IPSWICH.—August 5, 1634. See Boxford, Essex and Hamilton.

LAWRENCE.—April 17, 1847. From parts of Andover and Methuen. Incorporated as a city, March 21, 1853. A small portion of Methuen annexed to Lawrence, April 4, 1854. See Haverhill. Gain, 13,218 over 21,698; caused in a large degree by the enterprise of the manufacturers of Lawrence; the building of Water Works has also done considerable to enhance the growth of the city.

LYNN.—Nov., 1637. Boundary between Lynn and Chelsea defined July 21, 1830. Incorporated a city, April 10, 1850. Gain, 11,853 over 20,747. The unusual growth of the shoe business of Lynn is the prime cause. Like all manufacturing places, the city has suffered a check during the past two or three years.

LYNNFIELD.—July 3, 1782. Set off from Lynn, July 3, 1782, as a district. Incorporated as a town, Feb. 28, 1814. Boundary line between it and Reading established April 10, 1854. Line between it and Wakefield defined 1870. See North Reading.

MANCHESTER.—May 14, 1645. Jeffry's Creek.

MARBLEHEAD.—May 2, 1649. Marble Harbor.

MERRIMAC.—April 11, 1876. From west part of Amesbury.

METHUEN.—Dec. 8, 1725. Part of Haverhill. See Lawrence and Haverhill. Gain, 1,629 over 2,576; induced by activity in manufacturing.

MIDDLETON.—June 20, 1728. From parts of Salem, Topsfield, Boxford and Andover.

NAHANT.—March 29, 1853. Set off from Lynn. Gain, 453 over a population of 313. Many persons who were formerly summer residents have become permanent settlers.

NEWBURY.—May 6, 1635. Boundary line between it and Bradford established June 16, 1809. See Newburyport and West Newbury.

NEWBURYPORT.—Jan. 28, 1764. Part of Newbury. Part of Newbury annexed to Newburyport, April 17, 1851. Incorporated a city, April 17, 1851.

NORTH ANDOVER.—April 7, 1855. North Parish of Andover.

PEABODY.—May 18, 1855. Formerly South Danvers. Name of Peabody given April 13, 1868.

ROCKPORT.—Feb. 27, 1840. Part of Gloucester.

ROWLEY.—Sept. 4, 1639. See Boxford and Georgetown.

SALEM.—June 24, 1629. Incorporated as a city, March 23, 1836. Part of Salem annexed to Swampscott, April 3, 1867. See Danvers, Peabody and Middleton. The decay of the commerce of Salem, with decrease in the tanning and currying business, the jute manufacture, the fishery business and in some other industries, has interfered materially with the growth of Salem.

SALISBURY.—Oct. 7, 1640. See Amesbury.

SAUGUS.—Feb. 17, 1815. Part of Lynn. Part of Chelsea annexed to Saugus, Feb. 22, 1841. See Lynn.

SWAMPSCOTT.—May 21, 1852. Easterly part of Lynn. See Salem.

TOPSFIELD.—Oct. 18, 1650. New Meadows. See Middleton.

WENHAM.—May 10, 1643. Enon, or Salem Village.

WEST NEWBURY.—June 14, 1820. Formerly Parsons. Name changed June 14, 1820. Parsons a part of Newbury. Incorporated Feb. 18, 1819.

FRANKLIN COUNTY.

[Incorporated June 24, 1811. Gain, 2,356.]

ASHFIELD.—June 21, 1765. Huntstown.

BERNARDSTON.—March 6, 1762. Falltown. Part of Deerfield annexed to Bernardston, April 14, 1838. See Leyden.

BUCKLAND.—April 14, 1779. "No Town." Part of Conway annexed to Buckland, April 14, 1838. Improvements on Troy and Greenfield Railroad stimulate the growth of this town.

CHARLEMONT.—June 21, 1765. Plantation of Charlemont. See Rowe, Heath and Shelburne. Work on Troy and Greenfield Railroad increases the prosperity of Charlemont.

COLRAIN.—June 30, 1761.

CONWAY.—June 16, 1767. South-west part of Deerfield. Part of Deerfield annexed to Conway, June 17, 1791. Boundary line between Conway, Deerfield and Whately defined June 21, 1811. See Buckland. A few months prior to the census, about forty people died in this town from diphtheria, making a loss in population for five years.

DEERFIELD.—May 24, 1682. See Bernardston, Conway, Shelburne and Whately. The removal of the John Russell Cutlery Works to Turner's Falls has interfered with the anticipated growth of Deerfield. Gain, 376 over 3,038.

ERVING.—April 17, 1838. Erving's Grant. Part of Northfield—known as Hack's Grant—annexed to Erving, Feb. 10, 1860. See New Salem and Orange.

GILL.—Sept. 28, 1793. Easterly part of Greenfield. Part of Northfield annexed to Gill, Feb. 28, 1795, and Great Island, in Connecticut River, March 14, 1805.

GREENFIELD.—June 9, 1753. North-easterly part of Deerfield. See Gill.

HAWLEY.—Feb. 7, 1792. Plantation "No. 7."

HEATH.—Feb. 14, 1785. North-easterly part of Charlemont.

LEVERETT.—May 5, 1774. Part of Sunderland.

LEYDEN.—Feb. 22, 1809. Part of Bernardston.

MONROE.—Feb. 21, 1822. From a part of Rowe and a gore of unincorporated land north of Florida.

MONTAGUE.—Dec. 22, 1753. North Parish of Sunderland. See Wendell. Gain, 1,806 over a population of 1,574; caused by establishment at Turner's Falls, a village in Montague, of large manufacturing interests, especially cutlery. Small concerns in adjoining towns have removed here and consolidated. Montague gains, while Greenfield, Deerfield and some other towns suffer by the changes. The increase in Montague is legitimate and permanent.

NEW SALEM.—June 15, 1753. Part of Shutesbury annexed to New Salem, Feb. 20, 1824. Loss, nearly 200; owing to distance from railroad.

NORTHFIELD.—Feb. 22, 1713. See Erving and Gill.

ORANGE.—Feb. 24, 1810. Parts of Erving's Grant and New Salem annexed to Orange, March 16, 1837. Boundary between Orange and Erving established Feb. 27, 1841. Gain, 588; by development of manufactures.

ROWE.—Feb. 9, 1785. Myrfield and several tracts of land. Part of Zoar, in Berkshire County, annexed to Rowe, and part to Charlemont, April 2, 1838. See Monroe. The building of the Troy and Greenfield Railroad has aided Rowe, in population.

SHELburne.—June 21, 1768. North-westerly part of Deerfield. Gore of unincorporated land annexed to Shelburne and Charlemont, March 19, 1793.

SHUTESBURY.—June 30, 1761. Roadstown. See New Salem. Loss, 230 on 788. No special cause. General depression.

SUNDERLAND.—Nov. 12, 1714. Swampfield. See Leverett and Montague.

WARWICK.—Feb. 17, 1763. Roxbury Canada.

WENDELL.—May 8, 1781. Part of Shutesbury and Erving-shire. Part of Montague and a gore of unincorporated land annexed to Wendell, Feb. 28, 1803.

WHATELY.—April 24, 1771. North part of Hatfield (in Hampshire County). Part of Deerfield annexed to Whately, March 5, 1810. Boundary line between Williamsburg and Whately established Feb. 2, 1849. See Conway. The destruction of a manufacturing establishment has given Whately a temporary check.

HAMPDEN COUNTY.

[Incorporated Feb. 20, 1812. Gain, 29,734; from increased manufacturing facilities.]

AGAŴAM.—May 17, 1855. Part of West Springfield,—the parishes of Feeding Hills and Agawam.

BLANDFORD.—April 10, 1741. Glasgow. Boundary line between Blandford and Chester established Feb. 22, 1809, and June 13, 1810; and between Blandford and Russell, Feb. 22, 1809. See Huntington in Hampshire.

BRIMFIELD.—July 14, 1731. Loss, 115, caused by destruction, by fire, of woollen mill.

CHESTER.—Oct. 31, 1765. Murrayfield, changed to Chester in 1783. See Blandford and Tolland in this county, and Huntington and Middlefield in Hampshire.

CHICOPEE.—April 29, 1848. Northerly part of Springfield. Business enterprise gives Chicopee a steady growth. Gain, nearly 3,000 over 7,577.

GRANVILLE.—Jan. 25, 1754. See Tolland. Loss, 127; from want of railroad facilities and lack of manufacturing.

HOLLAND.—July 5, 1785. East Parish of South Brimfield. Incorporated as a district, July 5, 1785, and as a town, May 1, 1836. See Wales.

HOLYOKE.—March 14, 1850. Part of West Springfield. Incorporated as a city, April 7, 1873. Gain on 5,648 population, 10,612, or 187+ per cent., the largest gain in any city in the State; owing to increased manufacturing facilities, extensive works by Water Power Company and general business enterprise.

LONGMEADOW.—Oct. 17, 1783. Second Parish of Springfield.

LUDLOW.—Feb. 28, 1774. Stony Hill. See Springfield.

MONSON.—April 25, 1760. Westerly part of Brimfield. Boundary line between Monson and Palmer established Feb. 8, 1828.

MONTGOMERY.—Nov. 28, 1780. Easterly part of "No. 5." Part of Norwich (now Huntington) and Southampton annexed to Montgomery, March 6, 1792. See Russell.

PALMER.—Jan. 30, 1752. The Elbows. Part of Western (now Warren) annexed to Palmer, Feb. 7, 1831. See Monson. Gain, 1,492 over 3,080; from building a large cotton mill at the village of Three Rivers, and the growth of the Depot Village on the Boston and Albany Railroad.

RUSSELL.—Feb. 25, 1792. North-westerly part of Westfield and part of Montgomery. See Blandford.

SOUTHWICK.—Nov. 17, 1770. Southerly part of Westfield.

SPRINGFIELD.—May 14, 1636, as a town. Boundary between Springfield and Ludlow established June 5, 1830. Incorporated as a city, April 12, 1852. See West Springfield, Wilbraham, Longmeadow and Chicopee. Gain, 9,018 over 22,035; from no special cause, but from the gradual growth of manufacturing establishments and the ordinary, legitimate and healthy increase of a flourishing inland city.

TOLLAND.—June 14, 1810. West Parish of Granville. See Sandisfield. Distance from railroad operates to cause a loss of population.

WALES.—Sept. 18, 1762. Incorporated as District of South Brimfield, Sept. 18, 1762. As Town of Wales, Feb. 20, 1828. See Holland. Gain, 324 on 696; from the increased manufacture of woollen goods.

WESTFIELD.—May 19, 1669. Boundary line between Westfield and Southwick changed West 20, 1837. See Southwick, Russell and West Springfield. Gain, 2,797 on 5,634; owing to the beauty and healthfulness of the town and the steady employment usually furnished by manufacturing establishments.

WEST SPRINGFIELD.—Feb. 23, 1774. West part of Springfield. Part of Westfield annexed March 3, 1802. See Agawam and Holyoke. Gain, 1,639 on 2,100; caused, in large degree, by removal from Springfield to West Springfield of the engine houses and repair shops of the Boston and Albany Railroad.

WILBRAHAM.—June 15, 1763. Fourth Parish of Springfield. A tract of land called The Elbows annexed to Wilbraham, June 11, 1799.

HAMPSHIRE COUNTY.

[Incorporated May 7, 1662. Gain, 5,552.]

AMHERST.—Feb. 13, 1759. Second Precinct of Hadley. Parts of Hadley annexed to Amherst, Feb. 28, 1811, Feb. 18, 1812, and Feb. 17, 1814.

BELCHERTOWN.—June 30, 1761. Cold Stream. See Enfield. Loss, 321; caused partially by burning of one woollen mill and one paper mill.

CHESTERFIELD.—June 11, 1762. New Hingham. Part of Norwich (now Huntington) annexed to Chesterfield, Feb. 22, 1794. Boundary between Chesterfield and Goshen established Feb. 7, 1797, and between Chesterfield, Goshen and Williamsburg, Feb. 16, 1810. See Williamsburg.

CUMMINGTON.—June 23, 1779. East part of "No. 5, W." See Plainfield. Small loss, occasioned by decline in the manufacture of scythes, and by the transfer of some parts of the paper making business to North Adams.

EASTHAMPTON.—June 17, 1785. Parts of South and North Hampton. Incorporated as a district, June 17, 1785, and as a town, June 16, 1809. Boundary line between Easthampton and Southampton established Feb. 1, 1828. Changed February 21, 1862. Parts of Southampton annexed to Easthampton, March 13, 1841, and April 4, 1850. Boundary line between Easthampton and Northampton established March 26, 1855. See Southampton and Westhampton.

ENFIELD.—Feb. 16, 1816. Parts of Greenwich and Belchertown.

GOSHEN.—May 14, 1781. From a gore of unincorporated land, called Chesterfield Gore, and northerly part of Chesterfield. See Chesterfield.

GRANBY.—June 11, 1768. Second Parish of South Hadley. Part of South Hadley annexed to Granby, March 6, 1792. Boundary line between Granby and South Hadley changed June 12, 1824, June 20, 1826, and June 16, 1827. Loss, 96; occasioned principally by the destruction by fire, in 1870, of a woollen mill.

GREENWICH.—April 20, 1754. See Dana, Enfield and Petersham.

HADLEY.—May 22, 1661. Boundary line between Hadley and Amherst changed March 1, 1815. See South Hadley, Amherst and Northampton. Loss, 121; from business failures.

HATFIELD.—May 11, 1670. Boundary line between Hatfield and Williamsburg established, March 14, 1845, and March 19, 1846. See Williamsburg in this county, and Whately in Franklin.

HUNTINGTON.—June 29, 1773. Norwich. Parts of Chester and Blandford annexed to Norwich, April 28, 1853. Name changed to Huntington, March 9, 1855. See Chesterfield in this county, and Montgomery in Hampden.

MIDDLEFIELD.—March 12, 1783. From parts of Worthington, Chester, Becket, Patridgefield, Washington, and all of Prescott's Grant. Loss, 124; partly from reservoir disaster in 1874, causing suspension of business for some months.

NORTHAMPTON.—Oct. 18, 1654. Hockanum Meadows set off from Hadley, and annexed to Northampton, April 15, 1850. See Easthampton, Southampton and Westhampton. Gain, 3,183 over 7,925. The Mill River disaster in May, 1874, checked to a considerable extent the usual growth of this town, otherwise quite rapid; it is recovering from the effects of its losses.

PELHAM.—Jan. 15, 1742. See Prescott. Loss, 104; from aggregation of farms, and consequent decline in agricultural interests.

PLAINFIELD.—March 16, 1785, as a district; as a town, June 15, 1807.

PRESCOTT.—Jan. 28, 1822. East Parish of Pelham and south part of New Salem.

SOUTH HADLEY.—April 12, 1753. Second Precinct of Hadley. See Granby. Gain, 1,271 on 2,099; from development of textile manufactures.

SOUTHAMPTON.—Jan. 5, 1753. South Hampton. Second Precinct of Northampton. Part of Easthampton annexed to Southampton, March 13, 1841. See Easthampton and Westhampton in this county, and Montgomery in Hampden. Loss, 166; from deaths over births, and removals to larger towns.

WARE.—Nov. 25, 1761. Ware River Parish. Parts of Brookfield and Western (now Warren) annexed to Ware, Feb. 8, 1823.

WESTHAMPTON.—Sept. 29, 1778. West part of Northampton. Boundary line between Northampton, Easthampton, Westhampton and Southampton changed March 12, 1872.

WILLIAMSBURG.—April 24, 1771. West part of Hatfield. Boundary between Williamsburg and Chesterfield established June 24, 1795. See Chesterfield and Hatfield in this county, and Whately in Franklin. The Mill River disaster in May, 1874, checked the growth of Williamsburg.

WORTHINGTON.—June 30, 1768. "No. 3, W." Part of Chester annexed to Worthington, June 21, 1799. See Middlefield.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

[Incorporated May 10, 1643. Gain, 63,728. Including Charlestown and Brighton, annexed to Boston in 1873, the gain would have been 103,484, those places having a population of 39,756. The gain is from the use of many portions of the county for residence of gentlemen doing business in Boston, and from the general increase in manufactures, with the usual natural growth of a large community.]

ACTON.—July 3, 1735. Part of Concord. See Carlisle.

ARLINGTON.—Feb. 27, 1807. As West Cambridge. The Westerly Parish of Cambridge. Part of Charlestown annexed to West Cambridge, Feb. 25, 1842. Name changed to Arlington, April 30, 1867. See Winchester, Belmont and Cambridge. Gain, 1,146 over 2,760; from the extension of the Lexington and Arlington Railroad to Concord, the enterprise of the Arlington Land Co., the completion of water-works, and from its general desirableness as place of residence.

ASHBY.—March 6, 1767. From parts of Townsend, Fitchburg and Ashburnham. Part of Ashburnham annexed to Ashby, Nov. 16, 1792, and part of Fitchburg, March 3, 1829.

ASHLAND.—March 16, 1846. From parts of Hopkinton, Framingham and Holliston.

AYER.—Feb. 14, 1871. Parts of Groton and Shirley. See Groton as to change in population.

BEDFORD.—Sept. 23, 1729. From parts of Billerica and Concord.

BELMONT.—March 18, 1859. From parts of West Cambridge (Arlington), Watertown and Waltham. Boundaries defined, 1862.

BILLERICA.—May 29, 1655. See Bedford and Carlisle.

BOXBOROUGH.—Feb. 25, 1783. From parts of Stow, Harvard and Littleton. Incorporated as a district, Feb. 25, 1783; as a town, May 1, 1836. See Littleton.

BRIGHTON.—See Boston.

BURLINGTON.—Feb. 28, 1799. Part of Woburn. See Lexington.

CAMBRIDGE.—Sept. 8, 1633. "New-town." Parts of Charlestown annexed to Cambridge, March 6, 1802, Feb. 12, 1818, and June 17, 1820. Incorporated as a city, March 17, 1846. Part of Watertown annexed to Cambridge, April 27, 1855. Boundary line between Somerville and Cambridge changed April 30, 1856, and April 29, 1862. See Belmont, Brighton, Lexington and West Cambridge. Gain, 18,726 over 29,112; principally from use as place of residence. Development of furniture manufacturing also enters into causes.

CARLISLE.—April 28, 1780. Parts of Concord, Acton, Chelmsford and Billerica incorporated as the District of Carlisle, April 28, 1780, and as a town, Feb. 18, 1805. See Chelmsford.

CHARLESTOWN.—See Boston.

CHELMSFORD.—May 29, 1655. Part of, annexed to Lowell, May 18, 1874. See Lowell, Carlisle and Westford.

CONCORD.—Sept. 2, 1635. See Acton, Bedford, Lincoln and Carlisle.

DRACUT.—Feb. 26, 1701. Part of, annexed to Lowell, May 18, 1874. See Lowell. Loss, 789 from 1,905; owing partly to loss of territory in 1874 as stated, and partly from shutting down of the Merrimack Woollen Company's Mills.

DUNSTABLE.—Oct. 15, 1673. Boundary between Dunstable and Tyngsborough established, Jan. 29, 1798.

EVERETT.—March 9, 1870. Southerly part of Malden. Part of, annexed to Medford, April 20, 1875. Population, 3,651. See Malden, which loses this number of persons.

FRAMINGHAM.—June 25, 1700. Part of Holliston annexed to Framingham, Feb. 11, 1833. Part of Natick annexed 1871. See Ashland, Holliston, Hopkinton and Marlborough.

GROTON.—May 29, 1655. Part of Pepperell annexed to Groton, Feb. 3, 1805. Boundary line between Groton and Dunstable established Feb. 15, 1820. See Pepperell, Dunstable, Harvard, Shirley and Ayer. Population of Groton, 1,908; with Ayer, which was set off in 1871, it would have been 3,780; showing a gain of about 600 instead of a loss.

HOLLISTON.—Dec. 3, 1724. Part of Sherburne. Boundary line between Holliston and Medway changed March 3, 1829, and established between Holliston, Hopkinton and Medway, March 27, 1835. See Ashland, Framingham and Milford.

HOPKINTON.—Dec. 13, 1715. See Ashland, Holliston and Upton.

HUDSON.—March 19, 1866. From parts of Marlborough and Stow. Part of Bolton annexed March 20, 1868. Population, 3,493. Bolton, Marlborough and Stow lose in consequence of the incorporation of Hudson.

LEXINGTON.—March 29, 1712. Part of Cambridge. Part of Burlington annexed to Lexington, Jan. 10, 1810. See Lincoln.

LINCOLN.—April 19, 1754. From parts of Concord, Lexington and Weston.

LITTLETON.—Dec. 3, 1715. Boundary line between Littleton and Boxborough established Feb. 20, 1794. See Boxborough.

LOWELL.—March 1, 1826. Part of Chelmsford. Incorporated as a town, March 1, 1826, and as a city, April 1, 1836. Parts of Tewksbury annexed to Lowell, March 22, 1832, and March 29, 1834; and part of Draut (Centralville), Feb. 28, 1851. Parts of Chelmsford and Draut annexed May 18, 1874. The second city in the State. Gain, 18,698 over 30,990; from general causes, but especially from increased manufacturing. Annexation of territory has not added much to the population.

MALDEN.—May 2, 1649. See Medford, Melrose and Everett. Gain, 4,003, even with the loss of Everett, set off March 9, 1870, the latter having a population of 3,651. The growth of the two places is due to the facilities of communication with Boston, giving it advantages as a residence for business men.

MARLBOROUGH.—May 31, 1650. Part of Framingham annexed to Marlborough, Feb. 23, 1791; and part of Southborough, March 24, 1843. See Bolton, Northborough, Southborough and Hudson. Marlborough makes a gain of 1,260 over 7,164, notwithstanding losses of territory to Hudson, etc.

MAYNARD.—April 19, 1871. Parts of Stow and Sudbury. Population, 1,965, a great part of which Stow and Sudbury lose.

MEDFORD.—September 28, 1630. Part of Malden annexed June 10, 1817. Part of Medford annexed to Charlestown (now part of Boston), June 21, 1811. See Winchester. Part of Everett annexed to Medford, April 20, 1875. Gain, 1,428; from its use as place of residence.

MELROSE.—May 3, 1850. Part of Malden. Gain, 1,125 over 2,865; from development of building lands and settlements on same.

NATICK.—1762. Incorporated as a district in 1762, and as a town, Feb. 19, 1781. Part of Sherburne annexed to Natick, Feb. 7, 1820. Boundary between Natick and Wayland established April 26, 1850. Part of Natick annexed to Framingham, April 22, 1871. See Needham. Gain, 2,211 over 5,208; from development of business enterprises and building projects.

NEWTON.—Dec. 15, 1691. New Cambridge. An island between Needham and Newton annexed to Newton, June 21, 1803. Part of Waltham annexed April 16, 1849. See Roxbury. Incorporated as a city, June 2, 1873. Part of city of Boston annexed May 5, 1875. Gain, 7,130 over 8,975; due principally to opening building lands and the enterprise which has made Newton a desirable place of residence.

NORTH READING.—March 22, 1853. Northern part of Reading. Boundary between Lynnfield in Essex County and North Reading changed May 27, 1857.

PEPPERELL.—April 6, 1753. Incorporated as a district from Second Precinct of Groton. Part of Pepperell annexed to Groton, Feb. 3, 1803. See Groton.

READING.—May 29, 1644. Lynn Village. See Wilmington and Wakefield (formerly South Reading); also Lynnfield in Essex County. Gain, 750 over 2,436; from its advantages as a residence and the opening of building lands.

SHERBORN.—May 27, 1674. Name changed from Sherburne to Sherborn, May 3, 1852. See Holliston, Natick and Medway.

SHIRLEY.—Jan. 5, 1753. South-west part of Groton. Part of Groton annexed to Shirley, Feb. 6, 1798. Part of Shirley set off as part of Ayer (new town), Feb. 14, 1871. See Lunenburg and Ayer. Loss, 135, largely from loss of territory as above.

SOMERVILLE.—March 3, 1842. Part of Charlestown (now part of Boston). Incorporated as a city, April 14, 1871. See Cambridge. Gain, 12,515 over 9,353. This gain is owing to the development of building lands, the filling of Miller's River, the laying out of a public park, and to the many means of reaching Boston, which makes Somerville desirable as a residence.

SOUTH READING.—See Wakefield.

STONEHAM.—Dec. 17, 1725. Part of Charlestown. See Wakefield (formerly South Reading). Gain, 1,686 over 3,298; from increased manufactures and building projects.

STOW.—May 16, 1683. See Boxborough, Harvard and Maynard. Part of Stow set off as part of Maynard, April 19, 1871. Loss, 515; from loss of territory as described.

SUDBURY.—Sept. 4, 1639. Part of Sudbury set off as part of Maynard, April 19, 1871. Loss, 526; from loss of territory as above.

WINCHESTER.—April 30, 1850. From parts of Woburn, Medford and West Cambridge (now Arlington). Part of, annexed to Woburn, May 12, 1873. Gain, 1,131 over 1,968; owing to building enterprises and proximity to Boston.

WOBURN.—May 18, 1642. Charlestown Village. See Burlington, Wilmington and Winchester. Gain, 2,569 over 6,999; principally due to development of manufactures, especially of leather. Building operations have also tended to increase the population.

NANTUCKET COUNTY.

[Incorporated June 20, 1695. Loss, 1,547. From lack of employment at home, the younger portion of the inhabitants seek it abroad.]

NANTUCKET.—June 27, 1687. Formerly Sherburn. Name changed June 8, 1795. Only town in Nantucket County.

NORFOLK COUNTY.

[Incorporated March 26, 1793. Loss, 27,985; owing to annexation to Boston of Dorchester, Roxbury and West Roxbury, with a population of 78,000. Otherwise Norfolk County would have shown a gain of 50,015.]

BELLINGHAM.—Nov. 27, 1719 From parts of Dedham, Wrentham and Mendon. Boundary between Bellingham, Franklin and Medway established Feb. 23, 1832.

MILLBURY.—June 11, 1813. North Parish in Sutton.

NEW BRAINTREE.—Jan. 31, 1751. See Brookfield and Hardwick.

NORTHBOROUGH.—Jan. 24, 1766. North Precinct of Westborough. Part of Marlborough annexed to Northborough, June 20, 1807. See Berlin. Loss, 225; resulting from the change of cotton manufacture to woollen, and the entire discontinuance of the manufacture of boots.

NORTHBRIDGE.—July 14, 1772. North part of Uxbridge. Parts of Sutton annexed to Northbridge, Feb. 17, 1801, and March 16, 1844. See Sutton and Uxbridge. Gain, 1,388 over 2,642; from manufacturing enterprises.

NORTH BROOKFIELD.—Feb. 28, 1812. North Parish in Brookfield. See Brookfield. Gain, 1,235 over 2,514; owing to enterprise in shoe manufacturing.

OAKHAM.—June 11, 1762. West part of Rutland.

OXFORD. ———, 1713. Part of Sutton annexed to Oxford, Feb. 18, 1793; Oxford South Gore annexed Feb. 6, 1807; part of Charlton, Feb. 23, 1809; and Oxford North Gore, March 22, 1838. See Charlton, Ward (Auburn) and Webster.

PAXTON.—Feb. 12, 1765. South part of Rutland and north part of Leicester incorporated as District of Paxton, Feb. 12, 1765. Parts of Holden annexed to Paxton, Feb. 13, 1804, and April 9, 1838; and part of Rutland, May 24, 1851. See Holden and Rutland. Loss, 26; from destruction by fire of boot manufactory.

PETERSHAM.—April 20, 1754. See Dana. Loss, 225; principally owing to distance from railroad.

PHILLIPSTON.—Oct. 20, 1786. Formerly Gerry; name changed Feb. 5, 1814. From parts of Templeton and Athol. Boundary between Phillipston and Royalston changed March 29, 1837. See Royalston and Athol.

PRINCETON.—April 24, 1771. East wing of Rutland. Part of Hubbardston annexed to Princeton, Feb. 16, 1810, and part of No-town, April 4, 1838. See Westminster.

ROYALSTON.—Feb. 17, 1765. Parts of Athol and Gerry (now Phillipston) annexed to Royalston, Feb. 26, 1799, and part of Athol, March 7, 1803. See Phillipston.

RUTLAND.—Feb. 23, 1713. Boundary between Rutland and Paxton established Feb. 20, 1829. See Barre, Hubbardston, Oakham and Paxton.

SHREWSBURY.—Dec. 19, 1727. See Boylston and Grafton.

SOUTHBOROUGH.—July 6, 1727. Part of Marlborough. Boundary line between Southborough and Westborough established March 5, 1835. See Marlborough.

SOUTHBRIDGE.—Feb. 15, 1816. From parts of Sturbridge, Charlton and Dudley. Part of Dudley annexed to Southbridge, Feb. 23, 1822, and part of Sturbridge, April 6, 1839. Boundary between it and Sturbridge changed in 1871. Gain, 1,609 over 4,131; caused in large degree by the erection and operation of "Southbridge Print Works," aided also by the extension of the American Optical Company's works, and of the Hamilton Print Works.

SPENCER.—April 3, 1753. Second Precinct of Leicester. Gain, 2,427 over 3,024. No special cause; due to general development of manufactures.

STERLING.—April 25, 1781. Second Precinct of Lancaster. See Lancaster and West Boylston.

STURBRIDGE.—June 24, 1738. New Medfield. Part of Charlton annexed to Sturbridge, June 27, 1792. See Dudley and Southbridge. Boundary between it and Southbridge changed in 1871.

SUTTON.—June 21, 1715. Part of Northbridge annexed to Sutton, June 15, 1831. Boundary between Sutton and Northbridge changed March 7, 1837. See Ward (Auburn), Grafton, Millbury, Northbridge and Oxford. Gain, 688 over 2,363; largely from the establishment of a new cotton mill.

TEMPLETON.—March 6, 1762. See Gerry (Phillipston) and Gardner.

UPTON.—June 14, 1735. From parts of Mendon, Sutton, Uxbridge and Hopkinton.

UXBRIDGE.—June 27, 1727. Part of Mendon. Boundary between Uxbridge and Northbridge changed April 30, 1856. See Douglas.

WARREN.—Jan. 16, 1741. Incorporated as Western; name changed to Warren, March 13, 1834. See Palmer and Ware. Western was made from parts of Brookfield, Brimfield and the easterly part of what was Kingsfield. Gain, 1,080 over 2,180; from the erection of a new cotton mill, and from a general increase in manufactures.

WEBSTER.—March 6, 1832. From parts of Dudley and Oxford. Boundary between Webster and Douglas established Feb. 27, 1841. Gain, 1,456 over 3,608. Owing to the shutting down of several concerns, Webster shows less increase than she ordinarily would.

WESTBOROUGH.—Nov. 18, 1717. Chauncy. See Bolton and Southborough. Gain, 2,000 over 3,141; from the healthy growth of established business.

WEST BOYLSTON.—Jan. 30, 1808. From parts of Boylston, Holden and Sterling. Part of Boylston annexed to West Boylston, Feb. 10, 1820, and June 17, 1820. See Bolton.

WEST BROOKFIELD.—March 3, 1848. Part of Brookfield.

WESTMINSTER.—April 26, 1770. Part of Fitchburg annexed to Westminster, Feb. 12, 1796, and Feb. 16, 1813, and part of what was called "No-town," April 10, 1838. Part of Westminster annexed to Princeton, April 22, 1870. See Ashburnham and Gardner.

WINCHENDON.—June 14, 1764. See Gardner. Gain, 961 over 2,801; caused by the growth of manufactures.

WORCESTER.—Oct. 15, 1684. Grafton Gore (unincorporated land) annexed to Worcester, March 22, 1838. See Holden and Ward (Auburn). Incorporated as a city, Feb. 29, 1848. Gain, 19,262 over 30,055; due to geographical position (being a railroad centre) erection of public buildings, etc., with general and healthy growth of industries.
